

Italy Files Several Charges Against American Skyjacker

ROME (AP) — Italian authorities questioned hijacker Rinaldo Ossola today in his isolation cell as the FBI came under attack from the crew of the commandeered Trans World Airlines jet.

The pilot, Capt. Donald J. Cook Jr. of New York, charged that FBI men in New York ignored his instructions to keep away from the plane when it made a refueling stop at Kennedy Airport. He said this upset the 20-year-old hijacker and he fired a shot into the roof of the cockpit.

The FBI in New York declined comment on Cook's accusation. But an assistant district attorney who worked with the FBI, Albert T. Taub, said Cook's criticism was irresponsible and that the pilot was portraying himself as "the sole hero of the escape."

Cook and the other three crew members—first officer Wenzel Williams of Shallowater, Tex.; engineer Lloyd Halloran of St. Charles, Mo.; and hostess Tracey Coleman of Cincinnati, Ohio returned to the United States Sunday.

Minichiello, a U.S. Marine lance corporal and Vietnam veteran, commandeered the plane over Fresno, Calif., early Friday. He allowed the 39 passengers and three other hostages to get off at Denver, and the plane went on to Kennedy. Refueling stops were also made in Bangor, Maine, and in Ireland before the 17-hour, 6,900-mile flight ended in the hijacker's native Italy.

Minichiello eluded police for a short time after leaving Rome Airport, but was captured near a chapel on the outskirts of the city.

Italian authorities charged Minichiello with bringing military weapons into the country, kidnapping airport Police Chief Pietro Guli, extorting police credentials from Guli, illegal possession of firearms, and personal violence against the plane crew. They added up to a maximum sentence of 19 years.

U.S. authorities charged him with air piracy, which can be punishable by death, kidnapping and interfering with the operation of a commercial plane. They have not filed an extradition request, however.

Assistant Rome prosecutor Massimo Carli named Rome lawyer Domenico Martelli as defense attorney for Minichiello. They were to interview the youth together today at Queen of Heaven Jail.

Carli could either drop the charges or put everything in the hands of an investigating judge for him to decide. The appointment of the defense attorney made it appear likely, however, that Carli was not planning to close the case.

Assassination Risk Escalates, Probers Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — "An escalating risk of assassination" exists in America today for other public figures and lower elected leaders as well as president, the National Commission on Violence says.

"In comparison to the other nations of the world, the level of assassination in the United States is high," the commission said in one of two weekend reports, and public figures in and out of office should be afforded greater government protection.

The commission, in the second report, warned that a "mosaic of discontent" pervades the nation's system of criminal justice, making control of violent crime a campaign with "no real hope for success" unless radically changed and adequately funded.

Dr. Milton Eisenhower heads the commission, which was named by former President Lyndon B. Johnson, after the June 1968 assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Without drawing a parallel, the commission pointed in both reports to increasing discontent with, and agitation against what a significant proportion of the population feels are unresponsive institutions in society and government.

Among the causes of discontent are "police lawlessness, degrading prison conditions and other deficiencies" in criminal justice as well as the seeming inability of the poor to fight back against exploitation, the commission said.

Making a distinction between nonconspiratorial assassinations—such as the murders of President John F. Kennedy and his brother Robert F. Kennedy by lone malcontents—and "political" assassinations in which an organized group uses murder to accomplish political ends, the commission said:

"Political violence in the United States today is probably more intense than it has been since the turn of the century. If civil strife continues to become more violent, political assassinations may well occur."

In its report on law and order, the commission said governments—local and state and federal—must recognize needs of their citizens and act upon them if they are to effectively enforce their laws.

Noting that the nation spends more for agricultural subsidies than on elements of its system of criminal justice—police, courts and the prisons—the commission recommended increasing spending by $5 billion a year.

Efforts by one government element in the fight against crime often undermine those of another, it said, recommending establishment of a National Criminal Justice Center to coordinate efforts.

Controversy Over Draft Law Continues

Senate Studies 'Punishment' Of Protesters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charges the draft has been used to punish antiwar protesters face Senate scrutiny this week as part of a controversy over wholesale reform of the Selective Service system.

"The fundamental issue which now confronts us is whether the Selective Service System has the right to supplant the courts and substitute an administrative form of punishment," Sen. Edward M. Kennedy said Sunday.

Last week, Sen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director for the last 28 years, testified before the Senate Judiciary subcommittee that service in the armed forces cannot be regarded as a punishment.

"This is of course true," Kennedy replied. "But it can become punishment if the director of Selective Service treats accelerated induction as an alternative to criminal prosecution for those violating draft regulations."

Kennedy said the Military Selective Service Act of 1967 provides for the prosecution and punishment of draft law violators.

Vote Reform Hopes Fade In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chances for Senate approval of a Constitutional amendment providing the direct election of the president have about faded to the point where the 1972 election may be decided under the current electoral college system.

The House approved the proposed amendment Sept. 18 by a 339-70 vote, far more than the necessary two-thirds majority. But no action has been taken by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Time is running strongly against the amendment, because the Senate will have its hands full for the rest of the year with the Supreme Court nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., the massive tax reform bill, and a pile-up of delayed appropriations measures.

The first step is to get the amendment out of the Judiciary Committee, which has been sharply divided on electoral reform proposals. The issue was pushed aside by Haynsworth's nomination and no date has been set for taking it up.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chief Senate sponsor of the direct election amendment, said there will be no meaningful discussion of it within the committee until the Haynsworth nomination is disposed of.

However, Bayh said he has not given up hope of winning Senate approval of the proposed amendment this year—or, if this proves impossible, early next year.

If the amendment gains a two-thirds majority in the Senate, it still will have to be ratified by three-fourths of the states. This may be the biggest hurdle of all.

THEY CAME ALL WAYS — The first annual Pickaway County Rabies Clinic sponsored by the Department of Health, the County Veterinarian Assn. and the Farm Bureau Women's Committee was a success. A total of 1203 animals, including one raccoon, received rabies immunizations. Veterinarians participating in the clinic were Dr. Charles Hardin, Dr. Paul Teegardin, Dr. E. W. Hedges, Dr. F. P. Dunlap, Dr. Paul Fenstermaker, Dr. Lon E. Cromley and Dr. Steve Yost. Robert Wolfe and his son Greg, Pontious Lane, took two cats and a dog to the clinic at the Fairgrounds via garden tractor and cart. Another rabies clinic will be scheduled next year.

Arabs Blast U.A. Pipeline As Cease-Fire Takes Effect

BEIRUT (AP) — Arab guerrillas blew up an American pipeline in southern Lebanon early today, half an hour after a cease-fire between the guerrilla high command and the Lebanese army went into effect.

The charge that blew out two feet of the Transarabian Pipeline—or Tapline—from Saudi Arabia to the south Lebanese port of Sidon apparently was set before the cease-fire became effective at midnight.

Ten hours later, no violations had been reported from Lebanon's eastern border with Syria, the focus of the past two weeks of fighting between guerrillas of the Palestine Liberation Organization and the Lebanese army.

Repair work on the pipeline started immediately, and a company spokesman said oil should be flowing again by midnight. It was the second time this year the line has been sabotaged.

Agreement to a cease-fire effective at midnight Sunday was reached in Cairo by guerrilla chief Yasser Arafat and Gen. Emile Bustani, commander in chief of the Lebanese army. They also agreed to continue talking in an effort to agree on the conditions under which the guerrillas will operate against Israel from bases in Southern Lebanon.

Lebanese army units and the guerrilla forces facing them apparently were maintaining the positions they held Sunday.

The only clash reported Sunday was a 30-minute exchange of mortar and tank fire outside Rashaya. The village commands the supply route the guerrillas are trying to establish from Syria to the camps they hold in southern Lebanon.

The Lebanese press welcomed the cease-fire enthusiastically, although no agreement has yet been worked out to resolve the basic conflict between the army and the guerrillas—the degree of freedom of action and movement the guerrillas would enjoy in Lebanon.

More than 100 persons are believed to have been killed and many more wounded in the inter-Arab battling over the use of Lebanon as a base for guerrilla strikes against Israel. The guerrillas have demanded a free rein, but the government tried to restrict their activities for fear of Israeli reprisals.

On the other side of the Israeli-Lebanese frontier, Israeli warplanes went into action again early today and bombed and strafed three suspected Arab commando bases in Jordan, the Israeli military command said.

One of the targets, the abandoned village of Waqqas, was south of the Sea of Galilee just east of the Jordan River. The other two were south of the Dead Sea.

Eyewitnesses said the planes were over Waqqas about 30 minutes and encountered heavy anti-aircraft fire. More than an hour after the dawn raid, smoke and flames could still be seen, these sources said.

The Israelis said all planes returned safely.

Jimmy Durante Falls; Not Seriously Hurt

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Comedian Jimmy Durante fell three feet from a stage stairway at the Arizona State Fair Sunday and suffered a cut on the back of the head.

Durante, 76, wanted to go on with the show but was persuaded to enter St. Joseph's hospital for a day or two.

Vassar, one of the fashionable "seven sisters" to the Ivy League universities, has agreed to hire more black professors, increase the black studies program and give letter grades and degrees for black studies courses.

Thirty-two Negro girls ended their three-day sit-in at the administration building Saturday night after meeting with President Alan Simpson and members of the board of trustees.

Vassar also agreed to let black students live in "a contiguous residential space for the spring semester and thereafter," but refused to assign blacks a separate dormitory as militants demanded.

There are 59 blacks among Vassar's 1,600 students.

Officer Calls Loss Major Red Success

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese forces launched new attacks in South Vietnam's Central Highlands today after driving allied troops from three U.S. artillery bases at the opposite end of the region. American Special Forces officers said the loss of the bases was a "major success" for the enemy.

While U.S. and South Vietnamese troops along the Cambodian border in the southern part of the highlands braced for renewed North Vietnamese assaults, the enemy struck nearly 200 miles to the northeast, along the coastal region of the northern Central Highlands.

Some 200 North Vietnamese infantrymen and commandos launched coordinated assaults on two artillery bases of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade north of the provincial capital of Bong Son.

Firing rocket grenades, machine guns and rifles, the attackers pushed their way to the barbed wire perimeters of the two bases before American artillery drove them back. The U.S. Command said at least two enemy soldiers penetrated the perimeter of one base but were killed or repulsed. The bodies of others were found in the barbed wire around the second base.

Discord Snags Defense Bill

Research Provision Halts Passage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Efforts to smooth out differences in Senate and House versions of the $20 billion military spending bill are snagged on a Senate-inserted provision to limit independent defense research.

Because of the snag, involving conflicting sets of figures supplied Congress by the Pentagon, the Senate-House conference committee isn't expected to have a compromise ready for another 10 days.

The bill was passed in slightly different versions by each house and includes, among other things, authorization for President Nixon's Safeguard antiballistic missile system.

Sen. John C. Stennis, chairman of the Senate Armed Forces Committee which originally drew up the bill, said the Pentagon has revised its estimates of how much should be spent for military research by defense contractors.

First the Defense Department said it would need $585 million for independent research, then last week upped the figure to $720 million, the Mississippi Democrat said.

The Senate had approved an amendment by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., to limit independent research spending to $468 million, a 20 per cent cut in the original figure.

Stennis said both defense contractors and the Pentagon now are actively lobbying for removal of the Proxmire amendment by the conference committee.

The Senate conferees, however, are standing firm on the limitation, a Senate source said. This has caused a flurry among defense contractors, he added.

Critics of independent research say it provides defense contractors with large amounts of money to spend with little supervision by the government.

Proxmire originally had sought to ban it entirely, but settled for a 20 per cent cutback in order to get Stennis' support.

The bill is the largest money measure to be passed by both houses in this session of Congress. When the conference committee is finished with its work, the measure must be voted upon again by each body.

Ohio Again Racks Up Toll Of 35 Highway Fatalities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thousands of persons hit the road in Ohio over the weekend. Thirty-five never returned.

The toll continued at a staggering pace, raising to more than 100 the number of lives lost the past three weekends. The previous weekend, 34 were killed; the weekend before, 35.

The most deadly accident this weekend was a head-on two-car crash at New Lebanon in which seven lives were lost. And in Columbus and near Zanesville, mishaps took four victims each.

of accidents between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday showed that the majority of fatalities occurred in the cities.

The breakdown, giving the number of fatal accidents, victims and injured:

State and federal highways: 5-8-7.

City streets: 10-20-9.

County roads: 5-5-3.

Interstate highways: 1-2-2.

The statistics show, incidentally, that only one fatality occurred on Ohio's busily traveled interstate system and that no deaths were reported on the 370-mile long turnpike.

FRIDAY NIGHT

DAYTON—Jerry M. Hunter, 22, of Elkhart, Ind.; his wife Pauline, 18; daughter, Lisa, 2; and son Chad, 9 months, and William H. Jeffrey, 21, of Elkhart, his wife Deborah, 18, and daughter, Patricia, 1 month, all were killed in a two-car head-on crash on rain-slick U.S. 35 at New Lebanon, 10 miles west of Dayton.

DAYTON—William Scott, 48, of Dayton, was killed in the collision of two automobiles in Dayton.

SIDNEY—Robert Stephenson, 14, of Houston, was killed in a two-car crash on Ohio 66 in Shelby County near Houston.

EUCLED—Jeffery Lentz, 27, of Euclid, was killed in a motorcycle accident on Lake Shore Boulevard in Euclid.

GALLIPOLIS — Georgia Sultner, 69, of near Gallipolis, was killed when her automobile crashed off Ohio 7 about five miles south of Gallipolis.

SATURDAY

COLUMBUS — Four residents of Columbus' East Side died when an automobile in which they were riding crashed into a bridge abutment on East Fifth Avenue at Leonard Avenue. A policeman, among the first on the scene, said high speed apparently was the cause of the crash. The victims were Gregory Booker, 18, Lonnie Layne, 16, Robert Lee Jones, 25, and Loretta Polle, 19.

CLEVELAND—Willie Banks, 56, of Cleveland, was killed when his automobile crashed into a utility pole on Cleveland's West Side.

GALLIPOLIS — Fred E. Kisler, rural Racine (Meigs County) when his truck and a car collided on Ohio 7 in Addison, five miles north of Gallipolis.

ZANESVILLE — Caroline Ashford 51, her son Dickie 16, Dorothy Rush, 72, all of Roseville, Perry County, and Randy Wallace, 15, South Zanesville, when the car in which Wallace was a passenger went out of control and crashed into the Ashford auto on U.S. 22 two miles west of South Zanesville.

MEDINA—Dorothy L. Feeny 56, of Cuyahoga Falls, was killed in a crash in which she was riding collided with two other cars on Ohio 76 just north of Litchfield near the Lorain-Medina County line.

Italy Files Several Charges Against American Skyjacker

ROME (AP) — Italian authorities questioned hijacker Raphael Minichiello again today in his isolation cell as the FBI came under attack from the crew of the commandeered Trans World Airlines jet.

The pilot, Capt. Donald J. Cook Jr. of New York, charged that FBI men in New York ignored his instructions to keep away from the plane when it made a refueling stop at Kennedy Airport. He said this upset the 20-year-old hijacker and he fired a shot into the roof of the cockpit.

The FBI in New York declined comment on Cook's accusation. But an assistant district attorney who worked with the FBI, Albert T. Taub, said Cook's criticism was irresponsible and that the pilot was portraying himself as "the sole hero of the escape."

Cook and the other three crew members—first officer Wenzel Williams of Shallowater, Tex.; engineer Lloyd Halloran of St. Charles, Mo.; and hostess Tracey Coleman of Cincinnati, Ohio returned to the United States Sunday.

Minichiello, a U.S. Marine lance corporal and Vietnam veteran, commandeered the plane over Fresno, Calif., early Friday. He allowed the 39 passengers and three other hostages to get off at Denver, and the plane went on to Kennedy. Refueling stops were also made in Bangor, Maine, and in Ireland before the 17-hour, 6,900-mile flight ended in the hijacker's native Italy.

Minichiello eluded police for a short time after leaving Rome Airport, but was captured near a chapel on the outskirts of the city.

Italian authorities charged Minichiello with bringing military weapons into the country, kidnapping airport Police Chief Pietro Guli, extorting police credentials from Guli, illegal possession of firearms, and personal violence against the plane crew. They add up to a maximum sentence of 19 years.

U.S. authorities charged him with air piracy, which can be punishable by death, kidnapping and interfering with the operation of a commercial plane. They have not filed an extradition request, however.

Assistant Rome prosecutor Massimo Carli named Rome lawyer Domenico Martelli as defense attorney for Minichiello. They were to interview the youth together today at Queen of Heaven Jail.

Carli could either drop the charges or put everything in the hands of an investigating judge for him to decide. The appointment of the defense attorney made it appear likely, however, that Carli was not planning to close the case.

Truckers Fired By Struck Firm

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Discharge notices have been issued by the Youngstown Cartage Co. to a dozen Teamsters Union drivers who reported off last Tuesday and the drivers will have to file grievances through Teamsters Local 377 to get their jobs back.

Two of the 12 were among the eight men wounded in an exchange of gunfire Tuesday afternoon when a convoy of seven trucks of the Stony Trucking Co. of North Jackson tried to enter the gates at the Republic Steel Corp. plant here.

The trucks, driven by Teamsters, were met by about 200 members of a dissident Teamsters faction and the Fraternal Association of Steel Haulers and the battle followed.

Critics of independent research say it provides defense contractors with large amounts of money to spend with little supervision by the government.

Proxmire originally had sought to ban it entirely, but settled for a 20 per cent cutback in order to get Stennis' support.

The bill is the largest money measure to be passed by both houses in this session of Congress. When the conference committee is finished with its work, the measure must be voted upon again by each body.

Ohio Again Racks Up Toll Of 35 Highway Fatalities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Thousands of persons hit the road in Ohio over the weekend. Thirty-five never returned.

The toll continued at a staggering pace, raising to more than 100 the number of lives lost the past three weekends. The previous weekend, 34 were killed; the weekend before, 35.

The most deadly accident this weekend was a head-on two-car crash at New Lebanon in which seven lives were lost. And in Columbus and near Zanesville, mishaps took four victims each.

An Associated Press survey of accidents between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday showed that the majority of fatalities occurred in the cities.

The breakdown, giving the number of fatal accidents, victims and injured:

State and federal highways: 5-8-7.

City streets: 10-20-9.

County roads: 5-5-3.

Interstate highways: 1-2-2.

The statistics show, incidentally, that only one fatality occurred on Ohio's busily traveled interstate system and that no deaths were reported on the 370-mile long turnpike.

The dead:

FRIDAY NIGHT

DAYTON—Jerry M. Hunter, 22, of Elkhart, Ind.; his wife Pauline, 18; daughter, Lisa, 2; and son Chad, 9 months, and William H. Jeffrey, 21, of Elkhart, his wife Deborah, 18, and daughter, Patricia, 1 month, all were killed in a two-car head-on crash on rain-slick U.S. 35 at New Lebanon, 10 miles west of Dayton.

DAYTON—William Scott, 48, of Dayton, was killed in the collision of two automobiles in Dayton.

SIDNEY—Robert Stephenson,

14, of Houston, was killed in a two-car crash on Ohio 66 in Shelby County near Houston.

EUCLID—Jeffery Lentz, 27, of Euclid, was killed in a motorcycle accident on Lake Shore Boulevard in Euclid.

GALLIPOLIS — Georgia Stiller, 69, of near Gallipolis, was killed when her automobile crashed off Ohio 7 about five miles south of Gallipolis.

SATURDAY

COLUMBUS — Four residents of Columbus' East Side died when an automobile in which they were riding crashed into a bridge abutment on East Fifth Avenue at Leonard Avenue. A policeman, among the first on the scene, said high speed apparently was the cause of the crash. The victims were Gregory Booker, 18, Lonnie Layne, 16, Robert Lee Jones, 25, and Loretta Polle, 19.

CLEVELAND—Willie Banks, 56, of Cleveland, was killed when his automobile crashed into a utility pole on Cleveland's West Side.

GALLIPOLIS — Fred E. Kiser, rural Racine (Meigs County) when his truck and a car collided on Ohio 7 in Addison, five miles north of Gallipolis.

ZANESVILLE — Caroline Ashford 51, her son Dickie 16, Dorothy Rush, 72, all of Roseville, Perry County, and Randy Wallace, 15, South Zanesville, when the car in which Wallace was a passenger went out of control and crashed into the Ashford auto on U.S. 22 two miles west of South Zanesville.

MEDINA—Dorothy L. Feeney 56, of Cuyahoga Falls, when a car in which she was riding collided with two other cars on Ohio 76 just north of Litchfield near the Lorain-Medina County line.

Vassar Sit-In Hoped Over

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — The sit-in is over at Vassar College as a new school week opens, and officials hope for peace.

Vassar, one of the fashionable "seven sisters" to the Ivy League universities, has agreed to hire more black professors, increase the black studies program and give letter grades and degrees for black studies courses.

Thirty-two Negro girls ended their three-day sit-in at the administration building Saturday night after meeting with President Alan Simpson and members of the board of trustees.

Vassar also agreed to let black students live in "a contiguous residential space for the spring semester and thereafter," but refused to assign blacks a separate dormitory as militants demanded.

There are 59 blacks among Vassar's 1,600 students.

Breakthrough In Cancer Research Seen In Scotland

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — A team of British scientists has found a virus which causes leukemia in cats and made it grow in human cell tissues.

The virus also has been grown in dog and pig tissues, and the researchers plan to test it next on monkeys.

"This is one of the biggest breakthroughs in cancer research in 20 years," said Dr. Robert Williamson of the Royal Beatson Hospital in Glasgow. "Having this virus isolated means that finding a cure is now a matter of hand slogging."

But William Jarrett, a professor of veterinary pathology and head of the Glasgow University research team that announced the discovery, cautioned: "Don't get too excited about the possibility of a cure being found quickly. But the outlook looks promising."

"This is the first natural cancer virus to be discovered," Jarrett said. "It is the first virus ever shown to cross the species barrier. It will infect any human cell."

The discovery strengthens the theory that leukemia, cancer of the blood, may be caused in man by a virus.

Regarding the possibility that humans might catch leukemia from pets, Dr. Oswald Jarrett, member of the team, said present evidence indicates that it is remote but further research is under way on the question.

Prof. Jarrett added: "No one envisages at the moment that leukemia is an infectious disease in the same way as measles. There is nothing to suggest that you would be infected if someone sneezed a virus at you."

Dr. Jarrett said the feline leukemia virus was injected into human cell tissues in the laboratory.

"Although it grew well it does not follow that the same would happen in a living person," he said.

K Of P Slates Inspection

The annual inspection for Philos Lodge 64, Knights of Pythias, will be held tonight, it was announced by Milo Wise, Chancellor Commander.

District Deputy Grand Chancellor Arlie Crabbe will be the inspecting officer. All members are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Last Thursday, the local lodge hosted the Past Chancellors Assn. of District 11.

The banquet for the event was prepared and served by the sisters of Majors Temple 116. There were 43 guests and members present. Among the distinguished guests were:

Roswell Clarke, grand chancellor of Ohio; Harold J. Peters, past grand chancellor; George Thompson, imperial prince of DOKK; Leon Dulaney, past grand chancellor and superintendent of the Ohio Pythian Home in Springfield; Jim Kathera, past grand chancellor; Stanley Ballou, secretary of youth and welfare of the Ohio Grand Lodge; Frank Woodward, grand inner guard of Ohio.

The spring meeting of the Past Chancellors Assn. will be held April 8, 1970. The place will be announced later.

Lancaster-OU Enrollment On Increase

Official registration figures of Ohio University — Lancaster Campus released Friday by Dr. James Bryant, Assistant Director, show 1,038 students attending credit courses for the Fall Quarter.

This number reflects a 30 per cent gain over last fall and is the first time in the history of the local campus that the student population has been over a thousand.

It was noted that 359 or 33 per cent are full-time students taking 15 credit hours or more, while the remainder are registered for one, two, or three courses. The average student at the Lancaster Campus is enrolled for 10.9 hours. A large number of the courses are offered after 5 p.m. for the convenience of working students, but an increasing number of full-time day students are taking advantage of campus offerings.

One graduate course is being offered with an enrollment of 15 students. The majority of enrolled students come from Lancaster, but an increasing number are commuting from Columbus and more distant areas. Twenty-two different high schools are represented in the student body.

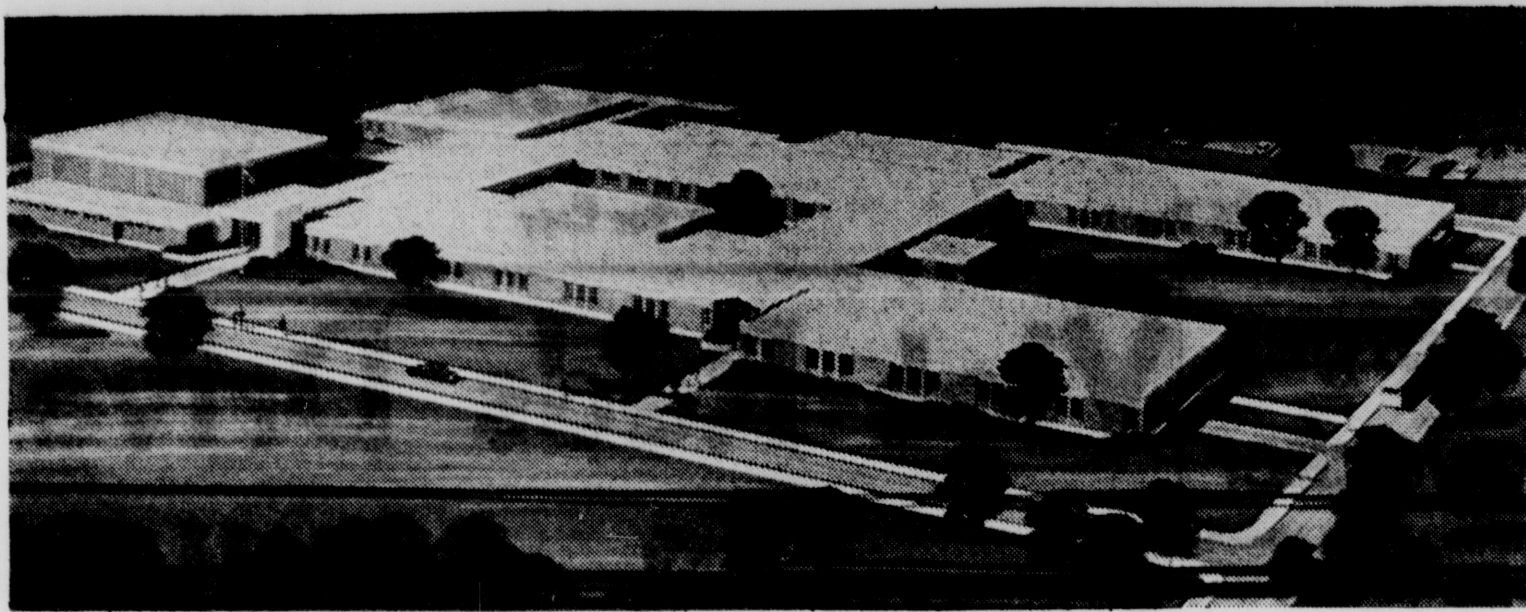

Thieves Rifle Teays Valley

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department is investigating a theft and vandalism at Teays Valley High School.

Superintendent Benis Lutz notified the sheriff Sunday morning. He left the school Saturday night about 9:30 and when he returned Sunday at 10:50 a.m. he found the damage.

The thieves gained entry by breaking a window in the cafeteria. Once inside they broke windows, damaged vending machine, a pay telephone was wrecked, a water fountain was destroyed and cabinets broken.

The wood and metal shops were entered and the thieves took belt sanders, routers, drills, tap and die sets, wrench sets and various hand tools. The stolen property is valued at $900.

TV MIDDLE SCHOOL — The architect's drawing shows the proposed Teays Valley middle school, to be built at the site of the present high school building if a $2,160,000 bond issue is approved by voters of the district Tuesday. The building will accommodate 800 to 850 sixth, seventh and eighth graders.

Teays Valley Bond Issue To Build Middle School

The citizens of the Teays Valley Local School District will be voting Tuesday on a bond issue for the purpose of constructing a new school for grades six, seven, and eight, and for the addition of a cafeteria-kitchen at the Ashville-Harrison elementary school.

The issue is in two basic parts; the major part is to provide a new middle school facility to house 800 to 850 sixth, seventh, and eighth graders. That building will be located on the sixty acre site presently owned by the school district and it will be adjacent to the present high school. The middle school building will cost $1,860,000 while the addition to the Ashville buildings will cost $300,000 for a total issue of $2,160,000.

The issue will be placed on a 2-year bond arrangement and the average annual rate to retire the issue will be 3.8 mills.

During the past several years, the enrollment in the district has increased on the average of approximately 100 students per year. The district enrollment is now over 2,500, with over 1,900 in the three elementary schools.

Classrooms are grossly overcrowded, and all available space is exhausted. With no classrooms available to divide unusually high enrollments, the only alternative is to provide the needed classrooms with a building program.

Virtually all elementary classrooms in the district exceed 30 pupils; many enroll in excess of 35. In one school there are two sections of second grade with 41 pupils each; in another two seventh grade sections have 42 and 41 respectively. Such ratios in rooms which are not large only diminishes the effectiveness of teaching and learning as it should be.

The need for additional classrooms is immediate. Yet, a building program has not begun. Until a building is completed the district may have to resort to leasing temporary or portable facilities as a stop-gap, emergency measure. It

Still Search For Bodies In Dumps

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP) — State Police reported today the search for the bodies of a missing Maryland woman and her young daughter will probably be centered at dumps between Maryland and Iowa.

Police unsuccessfully abandoned their search of Deep Creek Lake Sunday, after receiving a tip that the bodies of Mrs. Linda Mae Peugeot, 21, and her two-year-old daughter Lori Mae were in the large lake. Authorities declined to elaborate on details of the tip or its source.

Mrs. Peugeot and her daughter disappeared September 21 from a shopping center near Cumberland. They are believed to have been kidnapped by convicted rapist Stanley Hoss Jr. after he escaped from a prison near Pittsburgh.

Hoss was captured early last month in Waterloo, Iowa, and reportedly told police he kidnapped the Western Maryland residents. Police officials in the case have said Hoss admitted killing the two and leaving their bodies at dumps in northern Ohio and Kansas.

seems evident that the enrollment trend in the district is not going to recede or level-off, but that it will continue to rise.

The new school would house grades six, seven and eight. The sixth grade would remain self-contained for the most part. The seventh and eighth grades would be departmentalized. The building would be comprised of a wing of eight classrooms and a remedial reading area for the sixth grade, an art room, an industrial arts shop and drawing area, an area for home economics, a music area, a physical education facility for all three grades to use, a library, study halls, science rooms, standard classrooms for the academic subjects, office and storage space. The new school would have its own cafeteria and kitchen.

It would be situated on the present high school site and could share the athletic and playground facilities which are already there.

Unlike standard self-contained classrooms at the rate of 30-pupils per room, it is more difficult to set a single capacity figure for a school which holds departmentalized classes. However, for all practical purposes it is the planning of those responsible that such a facility should be designed to accommodate 800 to 850 students in grades, six, seven, and eight.

Lukens To Seek Space Prayer Resolution

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—U.S. Rep. Donald E. "Buzz" Lukens says he will introduce a resolution in Congress calling for unrestricted prayer in space.

Lukens' action came in response to a restraining order by a Texas federal court against prayer in space by astronauts. Lukens said the astronauts' option to pray in space is guaranteed by the constitutional rights of freedom of speech and religion.

Lukens said that it was "understandable and fitting that while exploring the dangers of space, astronauts should turn to their religious faith, no matter what it is, for comfort."

Hit Skippers Cause County Accidents

The Pickaway County Sheriffs Department is looking for two hit skip drivers.

Jeff Thompson of Circleville informed Deputy Bob Hoover he was on Route 56 near Earnhart hill, when a late model white pickup truck bumped his car and forced him off the road. The truck left the scene without offering help.

George Palmer of Williamstown told Hoover he was driving south on Westfall-Kinderhook Road. A light colored car, northbound, came around a curve on the wrong side of the road. The car struck Palmer's vehicle on the left front and knocked it into a field.

The Sheriff's Department has both cases under investigation.

TV MIDDLE SCHOOL — The architect's drawing shows the proposed Teays Valley middle school, to be built at the site of the present high school building if a $2,160,000 bond issue is approved by voters of the district Tuesday. The building will accommodate 800 to 850 sixth, seventh and eighth graders.

Teays Valley Bond Issue To Build Middle School

The citizens of the Teays Valley Local School District will be voting Tuesday on a bond issue for the purpose of constructing a new school for grades six, seven, and eight, and for the addition of a cafeteria-kitchen at the Ashville-Harrison elementary school.

The issue is in two basic parts: the major part is to provide a new middle school facility to house 800 to 850 sixth, seventh, and eighth graders. That building will be located on the sixty acre site presently owned by the school district and it will be adjacent to the present high school. The middle school building will cost $1,860,000 while the addition to the Ashville buildings will cost $300,000 for a total issue of $2,160,000.

The issue will be placed on a 2-year bond arrangement and the average annual rate to retire the issue will be 3.8 mills.

During the past several years, the enrollment in the district has increased on the average of approximately 100 students per year. The district enrollment is now over 2,900, with over 1,900 in the three elementary schools.

Classrooms are grossly overcrowded, and all available space is exhausted. With no classrooms available to divide unusually high enrollments, the only alternative is to provide the needed classrooms with a building program.

Virtually all elementary classrooms in the district exceed 30 pupils; many enroll in excess of 35. In one school there are two sections of second grade with 41 pupils each; in another two seventh grade sections have 42 and 41 respectively. Such ratios in rooms which are not large only diminishes the effectiveness of teaching and learning as it should be.

The need for additional classrooms is immediate. Yet, a building program has not begun. Until a building is completed the district may have to resort to leasing temporary or portable facilities as a stop-gap, emergency measure. It seems evident that the enrollment trend in the district is not going to recede or level off, but that it will continue to rise.

The new school would house grades six, seven and eight. The sixth grade would remain self-contained for the most part. The seventh and eighth grades would be departmentalized. The building would be comprised of a wing of eight classrooms and a remedial reading area for the sixth grade, an art room, an industrial arts shop and drawing area, an area for home economics, a music area, a physical education facility for all three grades to use, a library, study halls, science rooms, standard classrooms for the academic subjects, office and storage space. The new school would have its own cafeteria and kitchen.

It would be situated on the present high school site and could share the athletic and playground facilities which are already there.

Unlike standard self-contained classrooms at the rate of 30 pupils per room, it is more difficult to set a single capacity figure for a school which holds departmentalized classes. However, for all practical purposes it is the planning of those responsible that such a facility should be designed to accommodate 800 to 850 students in grades, six, seven, and eight.

Still Search For Bodies In Dumps

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP) — State Police reported today the search for the bodies of a missing Maryland woman and her young daughter will probably be centered at dumps between Maryland and Iowa.

Police unsuccessfully abandoned their search of Deep Creek Lake Sunday, after receiving a tip that the bodies of Mrs. Linda Mae Peugeot, 21, and her two-year-old daughter Lori Mae were in the large lake. Authorities declined to elaborate on details of the tip or its source.

Mrs. Peugeot and her daughter disappeared September 21 from a shopping center near Cumberland. They are believed to have been kidnapped by convicted rapist Stanley Hoss Jr. after he escaped from a prison near Pittsburgh.

Hoss was captured early last month in Waterloo, Iowa, and reportedly told police he kidnapped the Western Maryland residents. Police officials in the case have said Hoss admitted killing the two and leaving their bodies at dumps in northern Ohio and Kansas.

Patrol Investigates Injury Accident

The Highway Patrol investigated a slight injury accident 9:10 a.m. Sunday at the junction of Route 62 and 782.

Harold Rolfe, 50, of Orient, eastbound on Route 782, stopped for a stop sign then pulled out striking an auto driven by 36-year-old John Hamilton Jr. of Washington C. H.

Hamilton's car received damage to the left front and side. Rolfe complained of slight injuries. Rolfe has been cited for failure to yield the right of way.

Lancaster-OU Enrollment On Increase

Official registration figures of Ohio University — Lancaster Campus released Friday by Dr. James Bryant, Assistant Director, show 1,038 students attending credit courses for the Fall Quarter.

This number reflects a 30 per cent gain over last fall and is the first time in the history of the local campus that the student population has been over a thousand.

It was noted that 359 or 33 per cent are full-time students taking 15 credit hours or more, while the remainder are registered for one, two, or three courses. The average student at the Lancaster Campus is enrolled for 10.9 hours. A large number of the courses are offered after 5 p.m. for the convenience of working students, but an increasing number of full-time day students are taking advantage of campus offerings.

One graduate course is being offered with an enrollment of 15 students. The majority of enrolled students come from Lancaster, but an increasing number are commuting from Columbus and more distant areas. Twenty-two different high schools are represented in the student body.

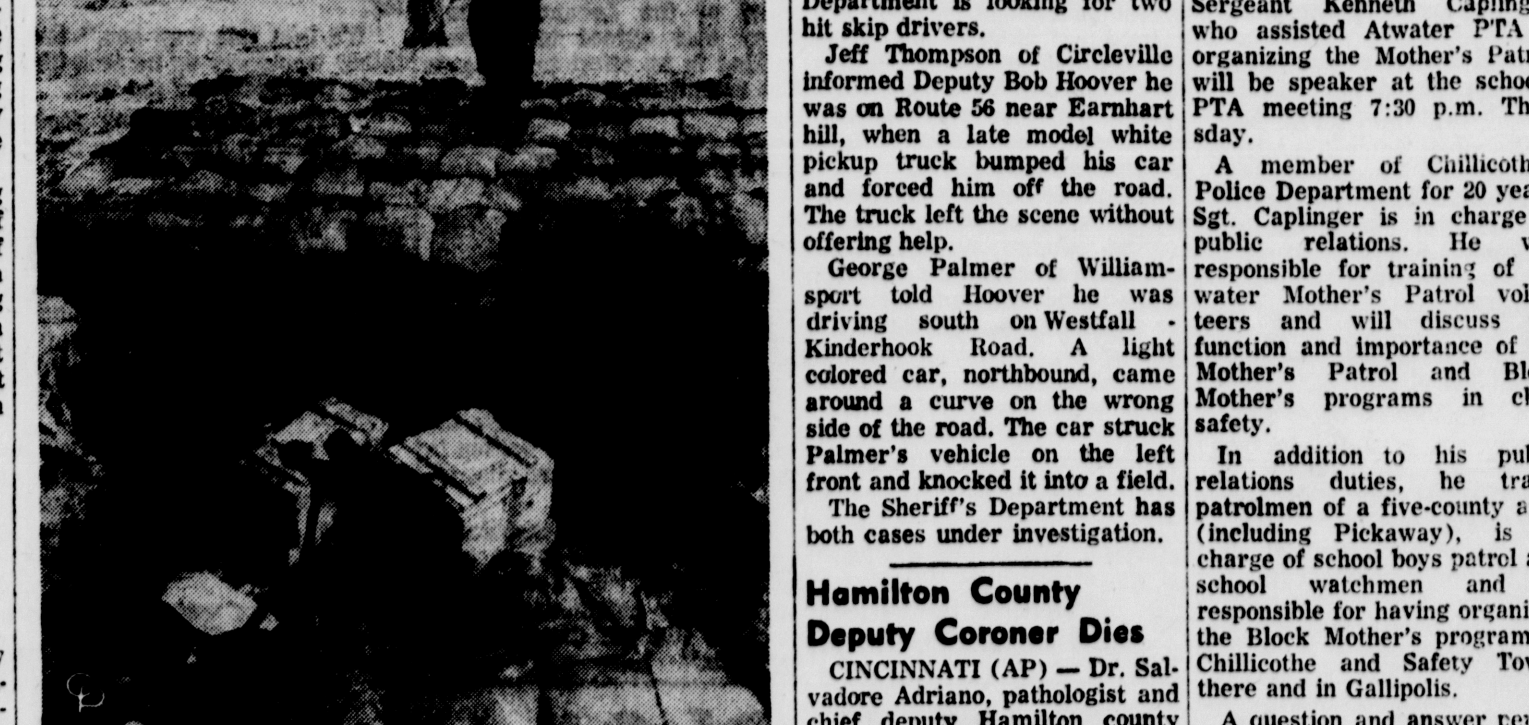

Thieves Rifle Teays Valley

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department is investigating a theft and vandalism at Teays Valley High School.

Superintendent Benis Lutz notified the sheriff Sunday morning. He left the school Saturday night about 9:30 and when he returned Sunday at 10:50 a.m. he found the damage.

The thieves gained entry by breaking a window in the cafeteria. Once inside they broke windows, damaged vending machine, a pay telephone was wrecked, a water fountain was destroyed and cabinets broken.

The wood and metal shops were entered and the thieves took belt sanders, routers, drills, tap and die sets, wrench sets and various hand tools. The stolen property is valued at $900.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Health has become a leading American industry. The nation's health bill now is about $51 billion, and by 1975 the Health Insurance Institute estimates it will reach $84 billion.

There is no rubber in dollar bills, although some favor putting it in to make them stretch farther. They are composed of cotton, 75 per cent and linen, 25 per cent.

The United States now has one motor vehicle for every two persons. Licensed men drivers outnumber women drivers 60 million to 43 million.

The boss doesn't spend all his time shouting orders or bawling people out. A survey showed that the average executive spends about 40 per cent of his work day listening to others.

Do you really want to lose weight? Then try hibernating. During three months of sluggish dozing in its wintry den, a bear sheds one-fourth of his poundage.

The contents of much of the mail we get nowadays hardly seems worth the price of the postage, but each letter a business firm sends out costs it $2.50.

Quotable notables: "Frustrate a Frenchman, he will drink himself to death; an Irishman, he will die of angry hypertension; a Dane, he will shoot himself; an American, he will get drunk, shoot you, then establish a million-dollar aid program for your relatives. Then he will die of an ulcer."—Dr. Stanley Rudin, psychologist.

The good old days: In 1909 the U.S. government paid only $30,000 for its first military airplane. The builders, the Wright brothers, also received $5,000 when the wood and fabric craft achieved a speed of 47 miles an hour, seven miles above the specified speed.

Household hint: Raisins for cakes and breads will be juicy and plump if you soak them in warm water before adding them to the batter or dough.

Worth remembering: "Be thankful you're living in a land where you can say what you think without thinking."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THOUGH BAD LUCK dog your footsteps without relief, counsels Joe E. Lewis, just hang on in there and a good break is bound to even things up for you. Joe cites as a perfect example an old man who passed away without experiencing one bit of good luck all his life. Then they dug a grave for him at the paupers' cemetery—and struck oil!

An easily disturbed author moved his family to an upstate farm in the hope that the tranquil surroundings would help him in his writing. Neighbors grew suspicious when he made no effort to cultivate his acres, and the noisiest of them came over to investigate. The author freely conceded that he was interested in neither cows, chickens, nor cash crops. "What ARE you aiming to raise then?" persisted the farmer. "Children," said the author desperately. "Shucks," commented the farmer, turning away disgustedly. "Around here, we consider that a sideline."

OVERHEARD: In Atlantic City: "If you really want to see a raving beauty, get a load of that girl who missed out for the finals of this year's Miss America contest!"

Manhattan banker to would-be borrower: "Honestly, sir, if the President of the United States were to march through that door this instant, we'd charge him the same outrageous rate of interest we're asking from you."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I believe that an excellent topic for one of your columns would be the need for druggists to put the medical names for the prescriptions they fill on the labels. With the side effects of so many drugs it seems that the next specialist who examines a patient should know exactly what drugs have been taken. I find that most adults refer to their medicine by the color and the size of the pill and that does not make sense.

Mrs. A.S.P., South Carolina Dear Mrs. P.: Your suggestion makes great sense. Pharmacists will follow the directions of the physician who prescribe a drug and will label it if he is instructed to do so. You can insure that this will be done by asking your physician to request it and by giving to you the drug's exact name and its purpose.

There are many other advantages to knowing the name and contents of the drug vial. If properly labeled there can be no error. If a child accidentally swallows the contents, as they so frequently and unfortunately do, emergency treatment depends on immediate knowledge of the exact drug.

The size and color of a pill or a capsule has no identifying meaning. With thousands of similar ones on the market only the label, as you suggest, is the safe way to preserve drugs in the medicine cabinet.

An additional safety factor is one that I have advocated for a long time. When a few pills remain, after one has recovered from an illness, they should be disposed of rather than kept for another illness which may be totally different from the one it was initially prescribed for.

In a recent article you said, "The possible reasons for birth defects may be attributed to German measles." You did not specifically say that the pregnant mother had contracted the disease after she was exposed to it. Does this mean that the unborn child can be affected even though a mother was only exposed to this type of measles?

Mrs. D. R., Illinois Dear Mrs. R.: I hope other readers were not confused and I hurry to assure you that exposure to German measles without contracting the disease does not present a hazard to the unborn child.

Because German measles is the link with some deformities in the newly born child, all

Becoming Like France?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

I have been chastised by an eminent Omaha (Nebr.) attorney, Dan Whiteside, for urging President Nixon to split the anti-war opposition by announcing that, after 1970, nobody will be sent to fight in South Vietnam save on a volunteer basis. Mr. Whiteside takes specific objection to my statement that "for psychological reasons the war cannot now be won by orthodox destruction of the North Vietnamese enemy." He wants Nixon to proceed with a decisive campaign to knock the Hanoi government out of the way by whatever military means may be deemed necessary and he says the draft must be continued "as long as the Communist enemy continues to prepare for and engage in aggressive war."

A couple of years ago I would have agreed with Mr. Whiteside that "we must fight without restraint to win as soon as possible to ourselves." In fact, I once wrote a column bravely proclaiming that "the U.S. is not France." But the consensus that would have made it possible for the U.S. to blockade the ports of North Vietnam to cut the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos, to blow the dikes of the North Vietnamese Red River and to demolish the enemy capital city of Hanoi (which would surely have won the war with "least possible cost to ourselves"), has absolutely vanished. The McCarthy movement, as I sorrowfully wrote at the time, was "our Dien Bien Phu."

So what is the use of living in a dream world? Mr. Nixon has only two options left. One is the craven option of precipitate withdrawal from South Vietnam, leaving the Thieu government to collapse. The other choice, which he still has a chance to sustain, is to mesh our troop withdrawals with an accelerated training of South Vietnamese fighting units, giving the Thieu-Ky government a chance to win the war on its own, with some continued U.S. logistical and air support.

Mr. Whiteside is worried lest any volunteers we might leave in South Vietnam would be called "hired killers" or "mercenaries."

However, the enemy calls us vicious names anyway; even our drafted troops are "imperialist forces," "lackeys of capitalism," etcetera, etcetera. The names hardly matter. What does matter, at this precise moment, is that Richard Nixon has one last opportunity to split the moderate wing of the Moratorium movement from the radicals who want us to throw the game to the Viet Cong.

The rift in the Moratorium became apparent shortly after the October 15 demonstrations, when some constituent units of the Sam Brown - David Hawk Vietnam Moratorium Committee voted to abstain from the march on Washington scheduled for November 14-15. We can take it for granted that many members of the academic community, both students and faculty, do not want to see the projected Washington "March Against Death" result in violent confrontations. In deciding to hold stay-at-home demonstrations on local greens, commons and campuses the non-violent protesters have expressed their fears of "New Mobe" (the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam).

"New Mobe," the compelling force behind the November 14-15 planning, grew out of a "Call to a National Anti-War Conference" in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Harp Van Riper narrowly escaped injury when their new Graham Paige sedan skidded in fresh gravel on the Adelphi Pike and turned over.

Donald Mason attended the homecoming and the opening of the new stadium at Ohio University.

Contest for mayor between B. T. Hedges, Republican, and W. L. Henn, Democrat, brought out held, somewhat obscenely, on autumn Moratoriums and Protest Marches in motion. "New Mobe" obviously hopes to frighten Nixon into surrender. Thousands of college and high school students who have no idea of the part that "New Mobe" has played in the behind-the-scenes organization of the various Moratorium assemblies could still be won to the Nixon proposals for orderly "Vietnamization" of the war if our mass media, the three TV channels and the big circulation weeklies, would only devote their talents to untangling the origins of the so-called "peace movement." We need some good, accurate mass media journalism, and we need it fast. But are we going to get it in what Sir Arthur Bryant has called the "age of formless uproar"? Sorrowfully, my guess is that we won't. Unless a miracle intervenes we are going down the drain, just like France.

SCHOOL'S OUT—Mrs. Owen Temple sits with her husband and daughters Cindy, 15, and (right) Debbie, 17, at home in Fontana, Calif. after withdrawing the daughters from Fontana High School rather than expose them to a combination of "pills, violence, sex problems, race riots and non-education." She said she would educate them at home rather than "fear for their safety and welfare."

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a communist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Health has become a leading American industry. The nation's health bill now is about $51 billion, and by 1975 the Health Insurance Institute estimates it will reach $94 billion.

There is no rubber in dollar bills, although some favor putting it in to make them stretch farther. They are composed of cotton, 75 per cent and linen, 25 per cent.

The United States now has one motor vehicle for every two persons. Licensed men drivers outnumber women drivers 69 million to 43 million.

The boss doesn't spend all his time shouting orders or bawling people out. A survey showed that the average executive spends about 40 per cent of his work day listening to others.

Do you really want to lose weight? Then try hibernating. During three months of sluggish dozing in its wintry den, a bear sheds one-fourth of his poundage.

The contents of much of the mail we get nowadays hardly seems worth the price of the postage, but each letter a business firm sends out costs it $2.50.

Quotable notables: "Frustrate a Frenchman, he will drink himself to death; an Irishman, he will die of angry hypertension; a Dane, he will shoot himself; an American, he will get drunk, shoot you, then establish a million-dollar aid program for your relatives. Then he will die of an ulcer." —Dr. Stanley Rudin, psychologist.

The good old days: In 1909 the U.S. government paid only $30,000 for its first military airplane. The builders, the Wright brothers, also received $5,000 when the wood and fabric craft achieved a speed of 47 miles an hour, seven miles above the specified speed.

Household hint: Raisins for cakes and breads will be juicy and plump if you soak them in warm water before adding them to the batter or dough.

Worth remembering: "Be thankful you're living in a land where you can say what you think without thinking."

Dear Editor:

I have been a resident of Circleville Twp., Pickaway County for over 50 years. We are fortunate to have a good Christian attitude among our people. The active groups here are all working toward making it a better place to live.

The only way to keep it active and aggressive is to have good churches, schools, hospital, city and county government. In this way we can move forward.

Help solve the children's problems in this highly competitive world of today.

Lets remember the sacrifice our parents and grandparents made to give us the best.

Sure we need some tax reform. But not at the expense of the children.

Lets support our children. The best investment we can make in future is to give our children the best. If in doubt please ask for divine guidance. The answer you receive will be the right one.

Lets keep Circleville moving. Support your school levy.

Dear Editor:

I am writing to urge all citizens of voting age to vote yes for lowering the voting age to 19.

In this fast-changing world of today this country's youth is well educated and quite informed on our political situation. As a whole, we the youth of this country are more mature today than most adults were at the same age 30 years ago. Through our ever broadening news services we are kept informed on both sides of an issue or on both candidates.

Our schooling has taught us not to make rash decisions, but to take a close look first, then decide. Also, as an 18-year-old we are considered adults. We can be drafted, arrested and convicted of a major or minor felony, and can legally purchase 3.2 beer.

At this same age, we can be sent to Viet Nam to fight for what our country believes is right, and die in the process, but yet we can not even vote for the leaders who are running the country we are fighting for. Is this right? Is it really democracy? With your "yes" vote, you can change it so it will be right and democratic.

In closing I urge all of you to vote yes for a better world tomorrow.

THOUGH BAD LUCK dog your footsteps without relief, counsels Joe E. Lewis, just hang on in there and a good break is bound to even things up for you. Joe cites as a perfect example an old man who passed away without experiencing one bit of good luck all his life. Then they dug a grave for him at the paupers' cemetery—and struck oil!

An easily disturbed author moved his family to an upstate farm in the hope that the tranquil surroundings would help him in his writing. Neighbors grew suspicious when he made no effort to cultivate his acres, and the noisiest of them came over to investigate. The author freely conceded that he was interested in neither cows, chickens, nor cash crops. "What ARE you aiming to raise then?" persisted the farmer. "Children," said the author desperately. "Snucks," commented the farmer, turning away disgustedly. "Around here, we consider that a sideline."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I believe that an excellent topic for one of your columns would be the need for druggists to put the medical names for the prescriptions they fill on the labels. With the side effects of so many drugs it seems that the next specialist who examines a patient should know exactly what drugs have been taken. I find that most adults refer to their medicine by the color and the size of the pill and that does not make sense.

Mrs. A.S.P., South Carolina
Dear Mrs. P.: Your suggestion makes great sense. Pharmacists will follow the directions of the physician who prescribe a drug and will label it if he is instructed to do so. You can insure that this will be done by asking your physician to request it and by giving to you the drug's exact name and its purpose.

There are many other advantages to knowing the name and contents of the drug vial. If properly labeled there can be no error. If a child accidentally swallows the contents, as they so frequently and unfortunately do, emergency treatment depends on immediate knowledge of the exact drug.

The size and color of a pill or a capsule has no identifying meaning. With thousands of similar ones on the market only the label, as you suggest, is the safe way to preserve drugs in the medicine cabinet.

An additional safety factor is one that I have advocated for a long time. When a few pills remain, after one has recovered from an illness, they should be disposed of rather than be kept for another illness which may be totally different from the one it was initially prescribed for.

In a recent article you said, "The possible reasons for birth defects may be attributed to German measles." You did not specifically say that the pregnant mother had contracted the disease after she was exposed to it. Does this mean that the unborn child can be affected even though a mother was only exposed to this type of measles?

Mrs. D. R., Illinois
Dear Mrs. R.: I hope other readers were not confused and I hurry to assure you that exposure to German measles without contracting the disease does not present a hazard to the unborn child.

Because German measles is the link with some deformities in the newly born child, all

The IWFS delegates also staged many wine comparison tests. That's paying lip service to the luscious grape!

Becoming Like France?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

I have been chastised by an eminent Omaha (Nebr.) attorney, Dan Whiteside, for urging President Nixon to split the anti-war opposition by announcing that, after 1970, nobody will be sent to fight in South Vietnam save on a volunteer basis. Mr. Whiteside takes specific objection to my statement that "for psychological reasons the war cannot now be won by orthodox destruction of the North Vietnamese enemy." He wants Nixon to proceed with a decisive campaign to knock the Hanoi government out of the way by whatever military means may be deemed necessary and he says the draft must be continued "as long as the Communist enemy continues to prepare for and engage in aggressive war."

A couple of years ago I would have agreed with Mr. Whiteside that "we must fight without restraint to win as soon as possible at the least possible cost to ourselves." In fact, I once wrote a column bravely proclaiming that "the U.S. is not France." But the consensus that would have made it possible for the U.S. to blockade the ports of North Vietnam, to cut the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos, to blow the dikes of the North Vietnamese Red River and to demolish the enemy capital city of Hanoi (which would surely have won the war with "least possible cost to ourselves"), has absolutely vanished. FORECASTS

OHIO — Mostly cloudy tonight and Tuesday with minor temperature changes. Scattered showers tonight and in all but the southwest Tuesday. A chance of occasional snow flurries west throughout the state tonight and Tuesday. Lows tonight 33-45.

NORTHWEST OHIO — Cloudy and cool tonight with a chance of showers occasionally mixed with snow flurries. Lows tonight 36-43. Mostly cloudy and cool Tuesday with a chance of a few snow flurries or showers. Highs 45-50.

CENTRAL OHIO — Mostly cloudy and cool tonight and Tuesday. A chance of showers tonight ending Tuesday. Showers probably mixed with snow flurries at times tonight. Lows tonight 36-42. Highs Tuesday near 50.

SOUTHEAST OHIO — Mostly cloudy and cool with a chance of showers tonight and Tuesday. Lows tonight near 40. Highs Tuesday in the upper 40s and the lower 50s.

SOUTHWEST OHIO — Cloudy and cool tonight. A chance of showers occasionally mixed with snow flurries ending tonight. Lows tonight 38-40. Variable cloudiness and continued cool Tuesday. Highs in the lower 50s.

OHIO FIVE-DAY FORECAST

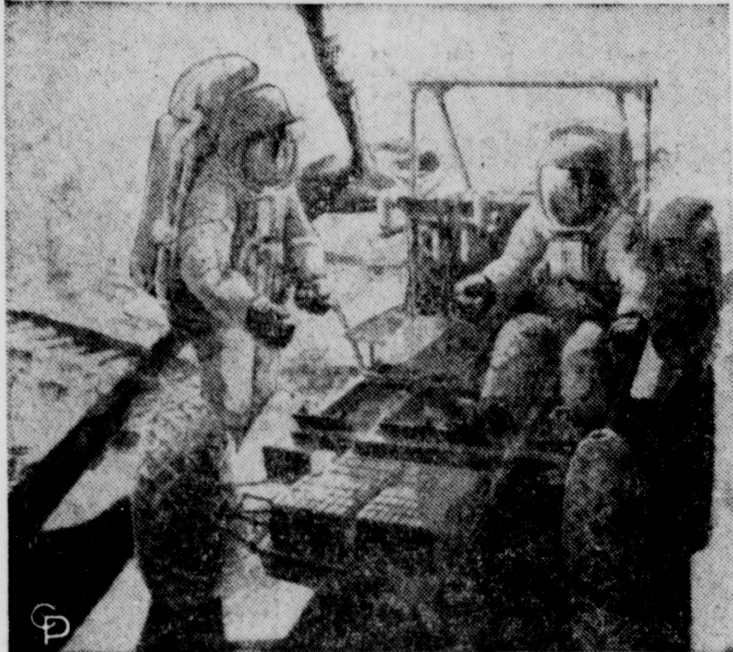

Temperatures will average slightly below normal Tuesday through Saturday with highs in the 50s and lows in the mid 30s. Cool Tuesday, then turning warmer toward the latter part of the week. Precipitation will total less than .25 inch as showers or scattered flurries northeast Tuesday and scattered showers over the state about Thursday.

Coast Guard Chides Navy

MAALAE, Maui, Hawaii (AP) — An object that was thought to be a Navy training torpedo when it washed up on a beach, has been identified as an underwater mine.

After it was identified, the Coast Guardsmen did a little art work on it — to be sure the Navy knew who had recovered it for them, and then left a short, but meaningful message:

"Help keep our beaches clean" was printed on the 1,000-pound cylinder.

LUNAR ROVER—This is a drawing of the Lunar Rover, for which NASA has picked the Boeing company of Seattle, Wash., to design, build and test. The 400-pound Moon vehicle would be powered by electric motors and have a speed up to 10 mph. It would provide lunar transport for two astronauts, plus experiment packages, tools, etc.

DOING HIS LAUNDRY without taking it off, this GI makes good use of a rice paddy about 20 miles south of Saigon. The current lull in fighting makes the risk worthwhile.

U.N. Eyes Seating Of Red China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Communist China again was given no chance of getting seated in the United Nations as the General Assembly prepared to open its annual debate on the issue today.

Although the United States was expected to be successful once more in its fight to bar the Peking regime, diplomats believed that Italy and probably Belgium might abandon the Western bloc and abstain in the vote expected Friday.

Cambodian Ambassador Huot Sambath was to start the debate by introducing a resolution sponsored by 17 Communist and nonaligned nations. It calls for recognition of Peking's representatives "as the only lawful representatives of China to the United Nations" and the expulsion from the world organization of the representatives of President Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government on Formosa.

Chinese Nationalist Foreign Minister Wei Tao-ming was second on the speakers' list with a defense of his government's claim that it is the rightful spokesman for all Chinese, on the mainland as well as on Formosa.

Although Peking was not expected to get even a simple majority in the vote on the Cambodian resolution, the United States and 14 of its allies planned to introduce a resolution reaffirming five previous assembly decisions that a change in China's representation is a substantive issue requiring a two-thirds majority.

Diplomats expected that it would pass by the same vote as last year—73-47, with several abstentions—or 72-47 if the new leftist government of Libya moved from the yes column to those abstaining.

Some figured that the vote against the Peking seating resolution might also be the same as last year—58-44—on the theory that Italy and Belgium would switch from no to abstention while Equatorial Guinea and Senegal would switch from abstention to no.

Italy has had some contacts with the Chinese Communists this year in a move toward setting up diplomatic relations. Belgium is an interested onlooker at Italy's contacts and Canada's talks with the Chinese Reds about establishing diplomatic relations.

Italy and Belgium for the last three years sponsored losing resolutions proposing a study of the possibility of admitting both Chinas to the United Nations.

Ohio Gun Clubs Form Alliance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Representatives of 20 Ohio gun clubs have formed a group called the Ohio Sportsman's Alliance to "represent their interests in political and legislative activities"—notably gun registration.

Lyle Goldsmith of Grove City said the alliance was formed at a weekend meeting here of the Ohio Rifle and Pistol Association, of which Goldsmith is a trustee.

The new association represents some 50,000 trap shooters, sportsmen, collectors and conservationists, Goldsmith said.

What's a guy gonna do?

There I was . . . had the whole family in the car, heading for pizzas and shakes. I took a look at the gas gauge and it was on the pin. I reached into my pocket and it was as empty as Ma Hubbard's pantry.

Well, you can't let the kids and the little lady down, can you? Even if it means you break a promise to yourself. You know . . . the one I made about never using my BankAmericard. What's a guy gonna do? Be a heel or give in? Me, I gave in. I cruised along, whistlin' a happy little tune till I spotted a gas station that took BankAmericard (Didn't take but a minute because there are so many who do) . . . swung in and said: "Fill 'er up." Handed the attendant the card and he took it just like it was cash.

Then we slipped over to Tony's Pizza Palace. He's got that blue-and-gold BankAmericard sign on the door. The kids loaded up on two giant mushrooms and Gladys and I split a pepperoni.

I was a hero when we got home . . . just because I broke down and used my BankAmericard.

Been doin' it ever since, too. Even though I had told myself I'd never use it. Gladys likes it . . . saves her time each month. She gets an itemized statement, writes one check. Pays for the whole works . . . shoes, shirts, gasoline, dry cleaning, TV repair, and a couple of pepperoni Pizzas.

It's pretty hard to find something you can't buy with BankAmericard . . . it's good at over 25,000 merchants and service organizations in Ohio . . . and thousands upon thousands more from coast to coast.

How The Weather Looks

FORECASTS

OHIO — Mostly cloudy tonight and Tuesday with minor temperature changes. Scattered showers tonight and in all but the southwest Tuesday. A chance of occasional snow flurries west throughout the state tonight and Tuesday. Lows tonight 35-45.

NORTHWEST OHIO — Cloudy and cool tonight with a chance of showers occasionally mixed with snow flurries. Lows tonight 36-43. Mostly cloudy and cool Tuesday with a chance of a few snow flurries or showers. Highs 45-50.

CENTRAL OHIO — Mostly cloudy and cool tonight and Tuesday. A chance of showers tonight ending Tuesday. Showers probably mixed with snow flurries at times tonight. Lows tonight 36-42. Highs Tuesday near 50.

SOUTHEAST OHIO — Mostly cloudy and cool with a chance of showers tonight and Tuesday. Lows tonight near 40. Highs Tuesday in the upper 40s and the lower 50s.

SOUTHWEST OHIO — Cloudy and cool tonight. A chance of showers occasionally mixed with snow flurries ending tonight. Lows tonight 38-40. Variable cloudiness and continued cool Tuesday. Highs in the lower 50s.

OHIO FIVE-DAY FORECAST

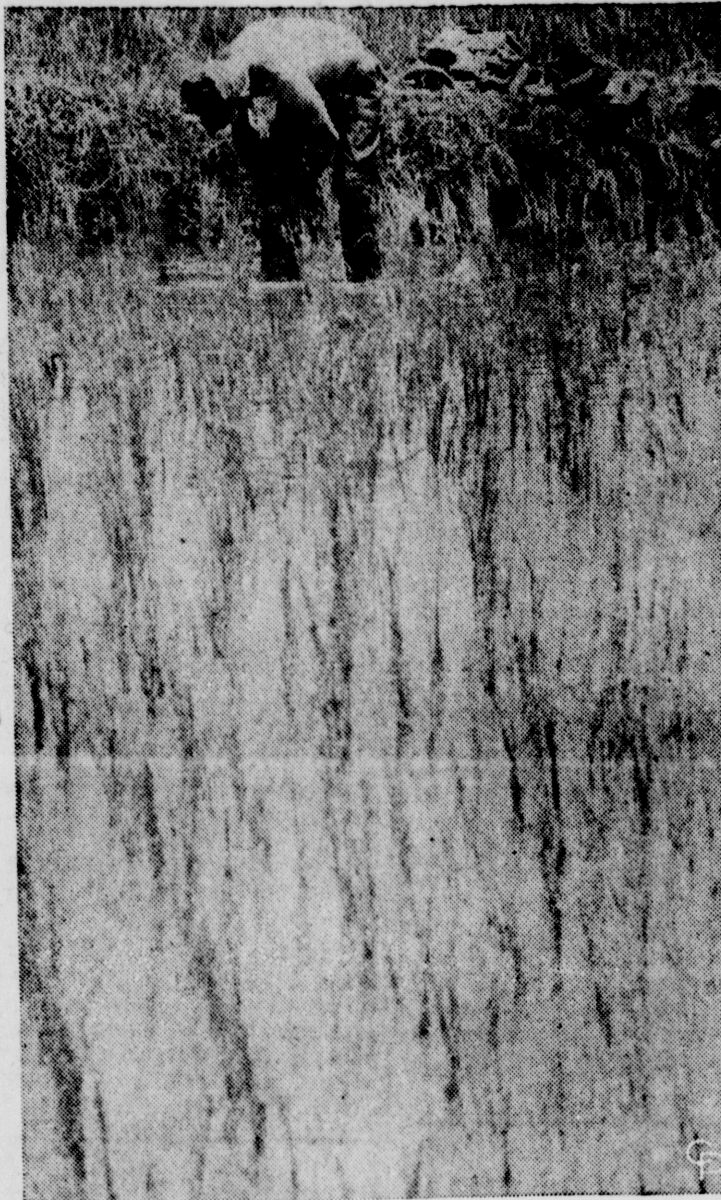

Temperatures will average slightly below normal Tuesday through Saturday with highs in the 50s and lows in the mid 30s. Cool Tuesday, then turning warmer toward the latter part of the week. Precipitation will total less than .25 inch as showers or scattered flurries northeast Tuesday and scattered showers over the state about Thursday.

Coast Guard Chides Navy

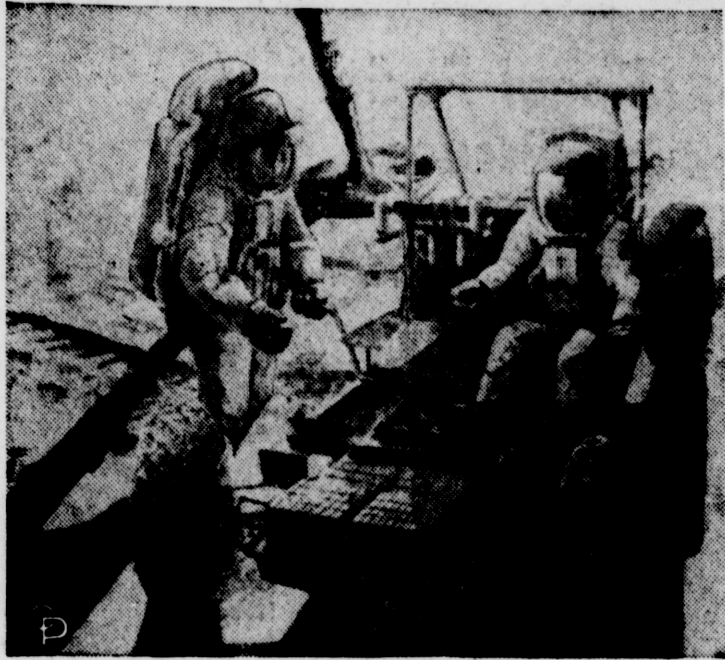

MAALAE, Maui, Hawaii (AP) — An object that was thought to be a Navy training torpedo when it washed up on a beach, has been identified as an underwater mine.

After it was identified, the Coast Guardsmen did a little art work on it — to be sure the Navy knew who had recovered it for them, and then left a short, but meaningful message:

"Help keep our beaches clean" was printed on the 1,000-pound cylinder.

DOING HIS LAUNDRY without taking it off, this GI makes good use of a rice paddy about 20 miles south of Saigon. The current lull in fighting makes the risk worthwhile.

LUNAR ROVER—This is a drawing of the Lunar Rover, for which NASA has picked the Boeing company of Seattle, Wash., to design, build and test. The 400-pound Moon vehicle would be powered by electric motors and have a speed up to 10 mph. It would provide lunar transport for two astronauts, plus experiment packages, tools, etc.

U.N. Eyes Seating Of Red China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Communist China again was given no chance of getting seated in the United Nations as the General Assembly prepared to open its annual debate on the issue today.

Although the United States was expected to be successful once more in its fight to bar the Peking regime, diplomats believed that Italy and probably Belgium might abandon the Western bloc and abstain in the vote expected Friday.

Cambodian Ambassador Huot Sambath was to start the debate by introducing a resolution sponsored by 17 Communist and nonaligned nations. It calls for recognition of Peking's representatives "as the only lawful representatives of China to the United Nations" and the expulsion from the world organization of the representatives of President Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government on Formosa.

Chinese Nationalist Foreign Minister Wei Tao-ming was second on the speakers' list with a defense of his government's claim that it is the rightful spokesman for all Chinese, on the mainland as well as on Formosa.

Although Peking was not expected to get even a simple majority in the vote on the Cambodian resolution, the United States and 14 of its allies planned to introduce a resolution reaffirming five previous assembly decisions that a change in China's representation is a substantive issue requiring a two-thirds majority.

Diplomats expected that it would pass by the same vote as last year—73-47, with several abstentions—or 72-47 if the new leftist government of Libya moved from the yes column to those abstaining.

Some figured that the vote against the Peking seating resolution might also be the same as last year—58-44—on the theory that Italy and Belgium would switch from no to abstention while Equatorial Guinea and Senegal would switch from abstention to no.

Italy has had some contacts with the Chinese Communists this year in a move toward setting up diplomatic relations. Belgium is an interested onlooker at Italy's contacts and Canada's talks with the Chinese Reds about establishing diplomatic relations.

Italy and Belgium for the last three years sponsored losing resolutions proposing a study of the possibility of admitting both Chinas to the United Nations.

Ohio Gun Clubs Form Alliance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Representatives of 20 Ohio gun clubs have formed a group called the Ohio Sportsman's Alliance to "represent their interests in political and legislative activities"—notably gun registration.

Lyle Goldsmith of Grove City said the alliance was formed at a weekend meeting here of the Ohio Rifle and Pistol Association, of which Goldsmith is a trustee.

The new association represents some 50,000 trap shooters, sportsmen, collectors and conservationists, Goldsmith said.

Women's Republican Club Discusses Election Topics

Pickaway County Women's Republican Club were the invited guests recently for a casserole luncheon at the home of Mrs. Elmer Siegle, Ashville.

Mrs. H. O. Caldwell who conducted the business session gave a report from the recent Annual Fall Conference, Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Organization meeting in Columbus.

A discussion period was devoted to election topics regarding 19 year voting ages, also, filling vacancies for unexpired terms of office holders.

Mrs. T. F. Hatfield informed the group of a school levy and the repair, and - or possible new building for the mentally retarded children, in this area. Mrs. Hatfield requested for the school bits of yarn, cut-out material and many such items we just throw away.

As has been the Republican Club custom in years past, it was voted that club members may bring Christmas wrapped gift packages to the next meeting, marked for boy, girl, man or woman, to be given to Orient State Institute.

Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Jessie M. Buskirk, Mrs. Frank Hudson, Miss Gladys Vause and Miss Doris Cook.

Mrs. C. P. Heiskell and Mrs. Eugene P. Hanson will co-host to welcome the Republican Club for a Thanksgiving carry-in luncheon meeting at the new building - Pickaway County Fairgrounds, Circleville, on Nov. 24 beginning at 12 noon.

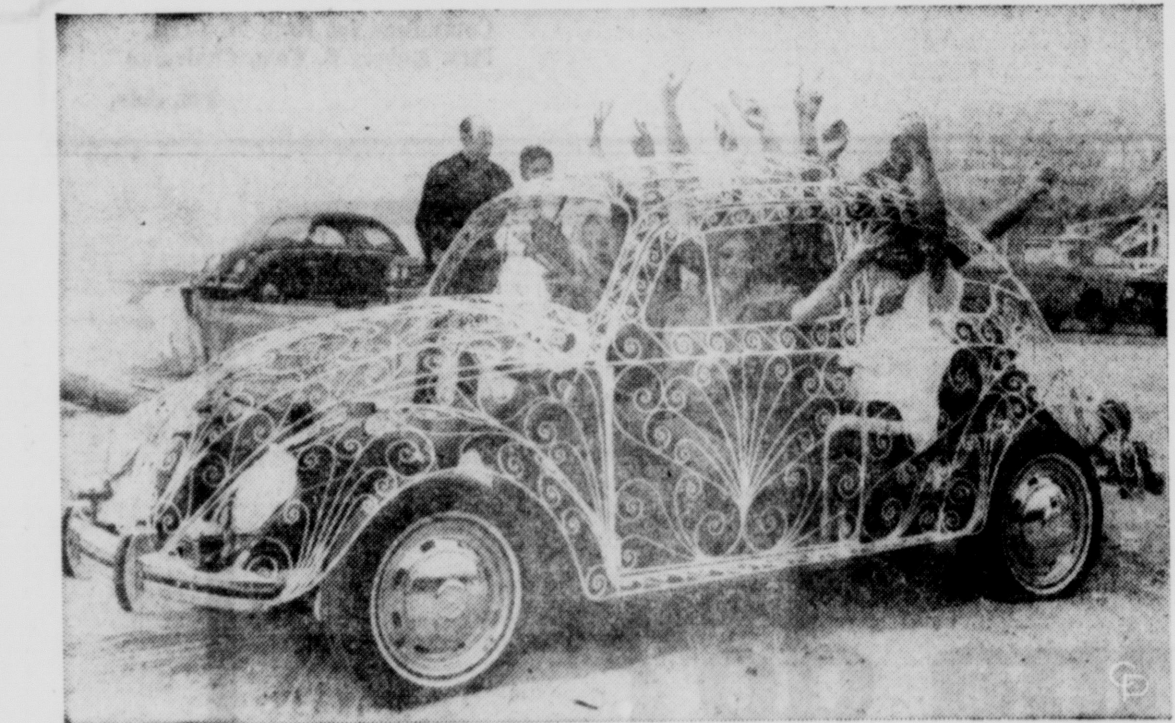

Junior Women Will Tour Plant

Circleville Junior Women's Club will tour the local DuPont plant Thursday evening. Members and guests are requested to meet 6:45 at the plant.

Following the tour, Mrs. David Chalmers, 5 Yorkshire Court, Knollwood Village, will be hostess to the group in her home.

Husband's Night Set By Advancement Club

Child Advancement Club met recently in the home of Mrs. William McGinnis, 836 Atwater Ave., with Mrs. Elzie Brooks as guest speaker.

Mrs. William Weller, president, conducted the business session, opening with a prayer. Mrs. Donald Pontious led a discussion concerning Husband's Night to be held Nov. 19 at the Fox Farm in Chillicothe. The speaker for the evening will be Joe Martina, a member of the F and R Lazarus security department. Mrs. Weller read several letters, one concerned the school levy proposal and another from the state president stating that the Child Advancement Club is now a patron club.

Mrs. Brooks talked about Brooks-Yates School and its needs. She told how the school was first started, the help it received from many churches and friends and how the new building they hope to build in the near future is needed. Mrs. Brooks brought several items that are made in the workshop at the school.

At the close of the meeting a dessert course was served by the hostess.

At a previous meeting held in the home of Mrs. Donald Pontious, 507 Edgewood Drive, the president named committees for the coming year. They are Mrs. Donald Pontious, Mrs. William Weller and Mrs. Bill Ankrom, program; Mrs. William Hildenbrand and Mrs. Robert Young, ways and means; Mrs. Gene Wright and Mrs. Maynard Marshall philanthropic; Mrs. Leroy Newlon and Mrs. Jack Wise, party planning; Mrs. Charles Steinhauer, Mrs. Robert Young, Mrs. Maynard Marshall and Mrs. Leroy Newlon, nominating.

There were two guests at this meeting, both former members of the club, Mrs. James Salyer and Mrs. Frank Allen.

Feighan To Run For Senate Post

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The first announced candidate for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Stephen M. Young is William M. Feighan of Cleveland, a former state representative.

Feighan announced Sunday that he would seek the Democratic nomination next year. Young, 80, said last week that he would not seek re-election because of his age.

Feighan, 35, who served six years in the Ohio House of Representatives, is administrative assistant to his father, Rep. Michael A. Feighan, who represents Ohio's 20th Congressional District.

TV Show

A very important date for the Kindergarten students and guests is this Tuesday, Nov. 4. On that day, bright and early, they will depart our village and travel to Columbus to appear on Lucie's Toy Shop, "BNS-TV."

In our household Amy gets more and more excited as the big day approaches and I am sure this is repeated in all the other homes. Be sure to tune in 9 a.m. and see our young ones.

While jotting reminders on your calendar do include the dates Nov. 10 through 15. On these dates a revival will be held at the Wesleyan Church with Rev. Chester Demint, guest speaker. Services will begin at 7:30 p.m. Special singing will be a feature according to Mrs. Viola Myers who, along with the pastor, Rev. Lawrence Barton extends a cordial welcome to all to attend.

Hee Haw

If your bag is country western music, then you must have been one of the capacity crowd enjoying the Williamsport Parent Teacher Association. Hee Haw Show last Monday night. And if it isn't your cup of tea, I'm sure it soon would be after hearing the truly talented youngsters of this area.

Should any of those performing pursue a career in this field this writer is firmly convinced he or she would have gold records by the bushel. Frankly, I could have listened more to Jimmy Cochenour (really good) Kathy Stebelton (A.O.K.) Crystal Metzger (cute and blonde) Melinda Seymour (very O.K.) Vicki Whaley (wow!) Mike Whitten (more more!) Miles and Drew Henson (tremendous) Jerri Kaiser (a true star) Crista Cochenour (knows her stuff) Sandee Drummond (a real "pro") — all these provided a variety of songs interspersed with a number of cute and clever jokes told by Kelly McCafferty, Jerri Kaiser, Jennifer Clark, Teresa McCarty, Doug and Jeff Lane, Miles and Drew Henson, Nancy Mace (who also read a "flavorful" poem) Melinda Seymour, Kathy Stebelton, Bill Davis, Randy Bivens, Christa Cochenour, Connie Adams and Barbara Mace and she also did one of her extremely talented interpretative dances to the music of "Ye Old Family Album." Brad Beatty and Crystal Metzger teamed together to enact the poem "Old Refrain." Jim Cochenour (the daddy) Stacy Craig and Vicki Whaley provided really great instrumental numbers and Bev (Mrs. Blenn) Whitten did her usual outstanding piano playing. Bev and Evelyn (Mrs. Jay) Kaiser were program chairmen and they really should have been given a standing ovation because the show was definitely well co-ordinated and there were no dull spots whatever.

The only really sour note of the entire evening was the mass exodus immediately after the program. Due to one of the performers having to leave early the business meeting was delayed until afterward and all those enjoying the efforts should have extended the courtesy of remaining seated for the brief business session. Some even walked out during the Pledge to the Flag and to a flag waver like me, this was unforgivable.

During the business portion it was announced that Nov. 24 is the date for the Thanksgiving program to be directed by Mrs. Chestora Peters, music teacher. Reports were given on the Halloween Carnival and the recent membership drive which was won by Mrs. Doris Riffle's second grade. This same grade also won the PTA attendance banner Sept. and Oct. Along with the banner, the president — Jeanine (Mrs. Jim) Hamman presented the room a lovely straw flower arrangement (a very "thoughty" idea). School board candidates Jeanne Lett, Eugene Bush and Cooke Metzger were present and introduced themselves. I always seem to leave any remarks I have about principal Bill Hundley till last but believe me it isn't the way I think since he rates right up there at the top and he has proved it once again — he designed and made the scenery for the show and the huge red barn seemed so real — the shining harvest moon — picket fence — everything combined — what an artist!

All mothers of 4-H members can be gathering in the ingredients for that special dish they prefer taking to carry-in dinners since our 4-H advisors are planning the second annual 4-H awards dinner. Last year's affair was a smashing success. More on the date, time, place and what have you soon as they have been firmed up.

Thrill! Thrill!

What a beautiful day! And to make it even more beautiful I have just had the most wonderful surprise and thrill — dear friends whom I hadn't heard from in a long, long time just phoned. Many will remember Bill and Jessy Sonnenman, former area residents, who moved a few years ago to Arkansas. Jessy's daughters, Diane and Carol Driscoll, will be in our neighborhood for a brief visit over the weekend. Carol and our Becki were good friends and classmates in their first year of school and needless to say, we are eagerly awaiting!

Perhaps a visit from a long ago friend will perk up Becki since those "bug-a-boos" of cold weather — "ye old virus" — have been giving her a hard way to go. Another close friend, Ruth Beck of Circleville is also a weekend guest.

Susan Wright, daughter of Warren and Norma, has been confined to her home for several days "feeling poorly". Her sixth grade friends will be glad when she can return to class.

There is a familiar saying — like father, like son and playing that scene is handsome young Jeff Fullen who had the misfortune to suffer a fractured right hand which occurred while he was working with his horse and his hand became caught between the horse's rope and a post. The son of Steve and Onda, he has remained undaunted and attends his kindergarten class daily. Father Steve has recuperated from a number of broken bones incurred while pursuing his hobby — horses.

Jim and Karen Dean and dimpled Michelle were Saturday evening hosts to Harvey and Margene Looney and Jamey.

The Charles Sowers, Mrs. are visiting with relatives in W. Va. this week and when they return we will report the particulars of their trip.

Lowell and Sally Whitt, daughters Brenda, Barbara and brand spanking new Betty Jo have returned to their Amherst home after being with Sally's mom, Juanita Cook, A. J. and Shana. They were called here by the death of grandmother Ruth Keller. Others at the Cook home during this sad time were Don Willis and Mrs. Walter (Garnet Mills) Meuthing of Columbus. Juanita is somewhat improved from the whiplash injury she suffered several weeks ago in an automobile accident.

Postman's Career Ends With Bang

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Anthony Leherr rounded out 43 years and five months as a mailman Friday in grand style, with two miniskirted girls toting his bags and cheers at every stop.

"It was the best run," said the 69-year-old postman who retired with the city's longest service record. "I've always tried to do my job well, but I never realized anyone cared so much about an old mailman."

To mark the occasion, business men in the city's Bellevue district, where Leherr worked most of his 43 years, hired two models to carry his mail bags.

Leherr took the adulation with a bouncy step and a wide grin. As a crowd of admirers moved up one city street, an elderly woman spotted Leherr and approached the group.

"You be nice to him," she said, "he's my mailman."

As Leherr entered shops and offices along the route, employees stood and cheered, and small ceremonies were held as they presented the mailman retirement gifts.

Leherr even got a visit from his boss, C. T. Leyde, the city's superintendent of carriers, who calls Leherr "Pittsburgh's No. 1 mail carrier."

"I enjoy walking," he said. "And now that I'm retired, I'll spend a lot of time just taking evening strolls with my wife and working around the house."

Not many folks grow watermelons in their gardens but we have someone who did in their front yard! Roy and Ruth Wright had two volunteer vines in their yard and each bore a melon. They were there until the past few days but I haven't seen either Ruth or Roy to ask what they did with the melons.

Happy Birthday

John Valone, John Grigsby, Richard Lemaster, Nov. 1; Sheree Christopher, Tim Bush, Nov. 2; Charles Thatcher, Marsha Reynolds Clark Nov. 3; Herschel Litter, George Myers, Terry Hanson, Joyce Tarbill, Arizona Francis, Verna Grabill, Nov. 5; Beverly Minor Brown, Glenna Wisecup, Becky Sue Myers, Wade Strasbaugh, Nov. 6; Shirley Thompson, Eric Palmer, Larry Adams, Nov. 7; Donald Draise, Nov. 8; Darrell Haney, Karen Streitenberger Nov. 9. Our best wishes for many more years wedded bliss go there way to Purl (Pete) and Pearl Cochenour, Nov. 1. They are parents of Jim and Vallie Cochenour Long and grandparents to Becky, Jackie, Jeff and Brett Long, Christal, Jimmy Dee, Damon Cochenour, Cheri Cochenour, Randy and Paul Bivens and to complete the family circle — Norma Bivens Cochenour (Jim's mate) and Bill Long (Vallie's other half).

On Nov. 5 Jim and Verna Grabill celebrate an anniversary (and Verna's birthday) and helping make it gay are their four J's — Janet, Judy, Jeff and J. R.

Birthday Parties

With the weather co-operating and being ideal for a wiener roast it just naturally follows that when you are celebrating your tenth birthday what could be more fun and that's the way it all turned out for Dee Anne Clark last Wednesday evening. Her sister Sandy (Mrs. Gary Wisecup) and brother Mark Clark and Mike Huff (they furnished the brawn power digging the fire hole, chopping wood etc., etc.) made all the pre-party arrangements and later Sandy was given a big assist by Onda (Mrs. Sieve) Fullen, Bonnie and Jan Long and Rae Fenstermaker. After the wiener roast and the traditional cake and ice cream the "gang" went out on the town for trick or treat. Singing Happy Birthday to Dee were: Tina and Vicki Cottrill, Crystal Metzger, Debbie Boyer, Bridget Elliott, Barbara Mace, Dawn Hawkes, Kelly Betts, Brian and Tracey Wisecup, Jeff and Tami Fullen, Susan Wright, because of illness, was unable to attend.

Another wiener roast on Thursday evening marked the fourth birthday of R. V. Hamman at the home of his daddy and mama — Jim and Jeanine. His guests were his neighborhood playmates, Sheryl and Kenny Horch, Mike and Bobby Hastings, Robbie Mahorney, Crystal and Lori Metzger, and his big sister and brother, Cindy and J. R.

Cost Of Putting Man On Moon Is Estimated

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A space agency expert says it cost each U.S. citizen about $1.20 a year to put men on the moon.

Marshall W. Dietrich said the total cost of the program, estimated at $24 billion, was spread out over a 10-year period. In addition, he said the space agency returns upward of 90 per cent of its budget to the public through industry — including creation of nearly 300,000 jobs over the last decade.

Dietrich addressed the annual fall meeting of The Associated Press Society of Ohio here Saturday, speaking to about 150 Society members and their wives.

Sunday the society viewed a film strip on AP operations in the electronic age and heard a panel of journalism students from Kent State University discuss the newspaperman of the future.

WANTS STRICTER CONTROL OF DANGEROUS DRUGS—Driving from Buckingham Palace to the Houses of Parliament, Queen Elizabeth II waves from her golden coach. Her son, the Prince of Wales, is with her. Steel Demand To Continue Strong Well Into 1970

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Steel demand will continue strong into 1970, Steel magazine predicted Friday.

The metal working weekly said the order flow to the nation's steel mills for November and December delivery is "so well sustained that the momentum will carry into 1970, and vigorous demand abroad will continue to take steel out of the United States and limit the amount shipped into it."

Some U.S. mills were reported already fully booked for December deliveries of cold rolled carbon steel sheet, which comprises 19 per cent of U.S. mill shipments.

Steel said the strong domestic demand is due mostly to firm orders from a wide group of users, not to orders from the automotive industry, where there are some signs of softening.

"Car sales have lagged a bit," Steel said, "and steel needs will be down at Christmas time when the labor contract of the autoworkers will give them a week's vacation."

"While some softening in ordering may occur in the United States," the trade publication said, "the effect will be tempered by demand for steel in the rest of the world. Japanese steel production capacity is booked fully for the first half of 1970 to fill orders at home and to supply customers abroad. European steel producers are bullish on business for the first half." Domestic production continues at a high rate, with output for the week ended Nov. 1 estimated at 2,796,000 net tons, the same as the preceding week."

WANTS STRICTER CONTROL OF DANGEROUS DRUGS—Driving from Buckingham Palace to the Houses of Parliament, Queen Elizabeth II waves from her golden coach. Her son, the Prince of Wales, is with her. Steel Demand To Continue Strong Well Into 1970

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Steel demand will continue strong into 1970, Steel magazine predicted Friday.

The metal working weekly said the order flow to thenation's steel mills for November and December delivery is "so well sustained that the momentum will carry into 1970, and vigorous demand abroad will continue to take steel out of the United States and limit the amount shipped into it."

Some U.S. mills were reported already fully booked for December deliveries of cold rolled carbon steel sheet, which comprises 19 per cent of U.S. mill shipments.

Steel said the strong domestic demand is due mostly to firm orders from a wide group of users, not to orders from the automotive industry, where there are some signs of softening.

"Car sales have lagged a bit," Steel said, "and steel needs will be down at Christmas time when the labor contract of the autoworkers will give them a week's vacation."

"While some softening in ordering may occur in the United States," the trade publication said, "the effect will be tempered by demand for steel in the rest of the world. Japanese

Titanic Survivor Killed In Blaze

OLAR, S.C. (AP) — Robert James Hanna, 89, one of the last survivors of the 1912 sinking of the Titanic, was killed Friday when fire destroyed his home.

Coroner N.J. Knoy said the Scottish native died in a blaze which apparently started when his bedding caught fire.

The Titanic sank on her maiden voyage from Southampton, England, to New York when she struck an iceberg in the Atlantic Ocean.

Inflation Control Plan Hit By Rhodes

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes says Ohio is "not going to accept the idea that a certain amount of unemployment is necessary" to control inflation.

Speaking at the dedication of the new Clinton County airport near here Sunday, the governor said the airport will help bring industry and jobs to the county.

Hard To Forget Some Things

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — A defendant was cross examining a witness on a question of identification in court here:

Defendant: "What clothes was I wearing?"

Witness: "Black shirt, green coat and hat."

Defendant: "What color trousers?"

Witness: "I can't remember."

Defendant: "Does that mean I wasn't wearing any trousers?"

Judge: "No. He said he cannot remember what color trousers you were wearing. If you were not wearing any trousers it is probable he would have remembered that fact."

Turtles Abound

LAKEWOOD, Colo. (AP) — A. D. Irwin, Lakewood salesman, says he has caught seven different kinds of edible turtles in the South Platte River near Sterling, Colo. He enjoys turtle meat fried as well as in soup.

Say Nixon Approved SST Despite Critical Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon gave the go-ahead for the controversial Supersonic Transport despite a generally critical report from a high-level government panel he created to advise him.

The report, withheld from Congress by the Department of Transportation until Friday, says the huge engines of the new plane threaten to produce "intolerable" noise levels, that its economic success is highly questionable and that if it does succeed it could worsen the U.S. trade balance deficit because Americans will be its chief users.

After appropriating more than $500 million on the SST, Congress cut off new funds two years ago after it ran into design difficulties. The future of the faster-than-sound airliner was in doubt until Nixon asked Congress to release more money last month. Total federal expenditures could reach $1 billion before the two prototype models now scheduled are built.

Nixon said then that he had been faced with a "spirited debate" within the administration before reaching his decision, and just how spirited it was can be guessed from the report of the advisory committee, which Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., pried loose from the Transportation Department.

The panel included top officials in most major departments, Nixon's science adviser, Dr. Lee DuBridge, a member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, Dr. Henry Hou-

State U. Alexis Johnson. Houthakker said in view of the nation's budget problems no further expenditures on the SST were justified, and added: "We do not believe that our prestige abroad will be enhanced on white elephants." The department of Transportation, in a statement accompanying the report delivered to Reuss, said the panel was only one of Nixon's sources of information and it "tended to rely on past findings," adding "we consider it the least definitive and most outdated of the reports we received."

Hollywood Studies Impact Of Beards On Society

By ARMY ARCHERD
Central Press Association
Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — To beard or not to beard, that is the question. And it's a big question! It started when Dick Van Dyke signed to star in "The One With The Fuzz." And he's the "one" with it.

"It's a relatively simple story," explained Dick, "it's about a meek bank teller who lets his beard grow and thus throws the bank into an uproar. Actually, it's a spoof on conformity, kidding the Establishment."

Director-author Gerson Kanin — he wrote the original story as well as the screenplay — has kept a file of newspaper clippings pertaining to the raising of mustaches and beards and their impact on society.

Kanin found, among other items, one San Francisco man who lost two jobs because of his beard. In each case, he started work clean-shaven, but when his beard flowed, he was fired; a New York attorney let his beard grow during a European vacation. On his return, two cases of long-standing dropped him.

"Now I ask you," smiled Dick, "why is a non-conformist so terrible?"

As Van Dyke was to learn, beards (like long hair) conjure up images of hippies and beatniks. And some companies do not wish to be associated with that image. Yes, even some in Hollywood!

There are airlines which will not permit pilots to grow beards (no, not that they might get it tangled in the controls), and they even frown on long sideburns which are now quite de rigueur in many circles. (Yours truly, for example, was virtually shamed into growing sideburns and longer hair by my teenage son who didn't want to think of his dad as a "square.")

"I discovered," Dick admitted, "that some personnel managers won't consider a job applicant with a beard, insisting that all employees conform to their corporate thinking. One Chicago outfit declared they were not 'anti-beard' — simply 'anti-sloppiness' — whatever that means in respect to a beard."

The point in question, that

ON BEARDS — The subject is beards and mustaches and sideburns. Dick Van Dyke (left) and Army Archerd are two authorities on hirsute adornment.

beards are a personal preference, is shown in this film when the two femme stars Angie Dickinson and Rosemary Forsyth, take opposite views.

Angie (who plays Dick's screen wife) approves, seeing in the chin whiskers his new-found courage. Rosemary, a co-worker at the bank and his amour during a separation from Angie, strongly disapproves of the whiskers.

When we visited the set, Rosemary was cuddling up to Dick in his apartment luring him on as he undressed her. But, when she sprung the condition of their romance — that he shave off the beard — he quickly re-buttoned her blouse. He chose the beard to the belle!

Proof that some men are quietly fighting back against the "no beard" big business dictum is evident in flourishing companies shipping thousands of fake beards, mustaches and sideburns to happy customers all around the country. One of these companies is based on Pere Westmore whose family has been making Hollywood look like what it isn't for 40 years.

Some of the customers of the fake foliage makers are dignified businessmen who cut on the fuzz for an evening on the town — makes them feel like they're swingers.

Of course, there are also those males who can't quite grow their own, so they buy 'em. The latter group includes kids who play in rock groups!

The unkindest cut of all came to Van Dyke who had grown his own luxuriant beard for the film. And then — had to shave it off because the movie was not filmed in continuity. Some days he's called on to be bearded, other days, clean-shaven. Matter of fact he's often clean in the morning scenes, and bearded after lunch.

This feat can be accomplished only by the makeupman! Thus, Dick submits to the tedious (and uncomfortable) hours in the makeup chair each day, instead of enjoying the luxury of — not shaving!

"Well, what are YOU going to do?" asks Dick, "grow a beard and risk getting fired? Or fight the Establishment? Don't forget no one ever heard anybody knock such bearded boys as Abe Lincoln, General Grant or — Santa Claus!"

Well, what's Van Dyke going to do after the film, beard or not? He has no problem at home, his wife doesn't object to the beard. But what about his fans?

And what would Mary Poppins' say?

Jaycees Give Promotion Levy Support Announced At Du Pont

Circleville Jaycees today went on record in support of the Circleville school levy and the Brooks Yates school levies.

Resolutions passed by the Jaycees urges all voters to vote "yes" on the Circleville School levy and the two issues concerning the Brooks-Yates School.

The resolutions stressed the vital importance of education as an investment in the future of our children. A spokesman for the Jaycees stated that quality education, no matter what the cost, should be the goal of all communities.

The spokesman continued to say that Circleville has satisfied itself far too long by barely maintaining the state standards of education while surviving on a hand to mouth basis. There are presently only two city school districts in Ohio spending less money per student enrollment than the City of Circleville. Even the enactment of levies on the November ballot would leave Circleville woefully below the State average, the Jaycees noted.

Circleville Jaycees feel that to defeat the present school levies would short-change our children's future for the sake of saving a few dollars in tax money.

Amanda FHA Hears Report On Convention

Ron Rowley gave a report on the national FFA convention he attended in Kansas City, Mo., at the recent Amanda-Clearcreek FFA meeting held Oct. 28.

Rowley was one of five Fairfield County FFA members who attended the convention early in October. While in Missouri he also had the opportunity to attend the American Royal Livestock Show.

During the business meeting, plans for the combined FFA-FHA winter roast Nov. 3 were discussed and referred to a committee consisting of Jim Bussert, Mike Hyme, John Frances and Ron Rowley.

Pat Kelley reported on the FFA corn plot which will be picked sometime in the near future by Jim Kinser. A new project of selling fruit was discussed and approved by members.

Escapee Caught After Attempt Against Family

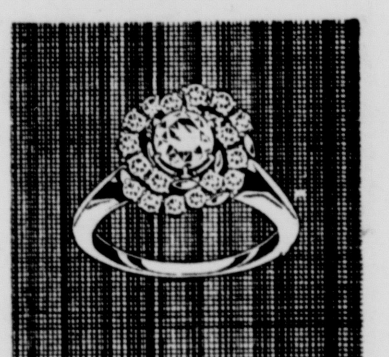

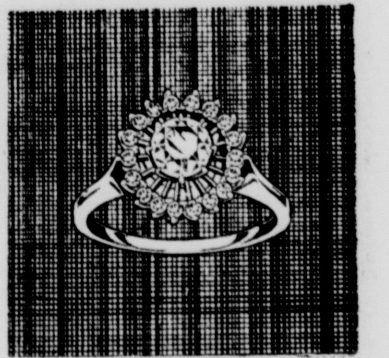

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—Donald Boyd, 21, was back in jail today after a Medina County man and his 14-year-old daughter foiled his flight to freedom.

Boyd, from Cleveland, broke out of jail Friday night by slugging a deputy and ramming his way through a second-floor window. He was being held on armed robbery and assault charges.

When James Edwards and his daughter, Verletta, returned to their farm north of Medina Sunday afternoon, Boyd greeted them at the back door. He was holding Edwards' .30 - .30 carbine and ordered them to drive him to Cleveland.

Edwards, an auto plant worker, caught Boyd off guard outside the house and scuffled with him. Boyd dropped the gun. The girl picked it up and held it on Boyd, who surrendered.

Some days he's called on to be bearded, other days, clean-shaven. Matter of fact, he's often clean in the morning scenes, and bearded after lunch.

This feat can be accomplished only by the makeupman! Thus, Dick submits to the tedious (and uncomfortable) hours in the makeup chair each day, instead of enjoying the luxury of — not shaving!

"Well, what are YOU going to do?" asks Dick, "grow a beard and risk getting fired? Or fight the Establishment. Don't forget no one ever heard anybody knock such bearded boys as Abe Lincoln, General Grant or — Santa Claus!"

Well, what's Van Dyke going to do after the film, beard or not? He has no problem at home, his wife doesn't object to the beard. But what about his fans?

And what would Mary Poppins say?

An Open Letter To Art Linkletter

DEAR ART LINKLETTER: The world grieves with you and Mrs. Linkletter over the loss of your beautiful 20-year-old daughter who jumped to death while under the influence of LSD.

You showed tremendous unselfishness in keeping nothing from the public. This you did in the hope that your personal tragedy would save other young lives...though all was lost for your Diane.

While I know how painful it must be for you to discuss it, will you please answer one question, Art? Did Diane smoke marijuana before experimenting with LSD?

Over 50 million people read me daily. If one word from you saves just one young life it will be well worth printing. Love and kisses,

DEAR ABBY: Diane did not smoke marijuana. In fact, she neither drank nor smoked. Diane had not used LSD for at least five months before that fatal night. Being a highly strung emotional girl, the effects of her initial experiment with LSD could not be shaken off. Young people do not know that recurrent reactions of LSD are totally unpredictable. We did not know that there had been any recurrences, so you can imagine what a shock it was to us.

Mrs. Linkletter and I are slowly coming back and healing. Love and kisses,

DEAR ABBY: Stamped across this letter is the word "CENSORED" which requires some sort of explanation from me.

Stokes, Perk Slate Final Vote Push

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The two major candidates for mayor of Cleveland operated on reduced schedules in their campaigns Sunday, apparently in preparation for a last-minute push today for votes in the Tuesday election.

Mayor Carl B. Stokes appeared on an hour-long television program Sunday night in which he answered questions telephoned to him, but cancelled two earlier appearances in order to save his voice for the telecast.

His Republican challenger, Ralph J. Perk, attended small rallies in which a "get out the vote" theme was stressed.

Observers are predicting a close election and some say it may be as close as the one in 1967 when Stokes edged Republican Seth Taft by only 1,679 votes to become the first Negro mayor of a major United States city.

Stokes has the support of both the Plain Dealer and the Cleveland Press. Both newspapers predicted in pre-election polls Saturday that he would win re-election by a narrow margin, but slightly larger than when he beat Taft.

However, the Plain Dealer said the race is so close it is "virtually a toss-up." The Press noted that Perk supporters are working hard to get out the vote in the white ethnic areas and if successful Perk could pull an upset if the voting is unusually heavy.

Both polls indicated that independent candidate Sydney R. Stapleton would not be a factor in the outcome of the race.

Election officials expect 237,000 Clevelanders to cast votes in the mayor's race and 11 City Council races.

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Ed Sullivan Show," after more than 20 years, seems to be running into some heavy flak. Since the new season started, the CBS vaudeville hour has been losing the ratings race.

The success of NBC's "Bill Cosby Show," preceded by "The Wonderful World of Disney," has been a principal factor, complicated by the continuing popularity of ABC's "The FBI."

Sullivan and company, however, are uniquely equipped to handle emergencies. Most variety series are taped far in advance—often months—and it is almost impossible to make repairs if things don't go well. The Sullivan hour is almost always live and therefore flexible.

There already are signs that the show is being beefed up, with more stars and fewer animal acts and acrobats.

Sunday night's bill had Pearl Bailey, Petula Clark, country singer Buck Owens and a new rock group called "The Band," so there was something for just about every variety of music lover. There was also David Frye, probably the most skillful impressionist around today, a very short stand-up comedy monologue by Rodney Dangerfield and some young French-Canadian folk dancers.

It was a star-studded and lively hour. But there are so many variety hours on the three networks, there is a question whether the supply is not larger than the demand.

"Bonanza" was practically a night off for the Cartwright family. The story centered on David Canary who plays the Ponderosa ranch hand, Candy.

It was an improbable story with Candy killing a man in self-defense and then trying to help the man's pretty widow and child run the ranch.

Romance flowered while a mysterious evil stranger skulked around taking pot shots at Candy.

It turned out the pretty widow, in her fresh anguish over her husband's death, had written to his brother—conveniently a gunman—asking him to come and avenge the killing.

There was the shoot-out at the end, and when the gunman bit the dust, Candy told his lady love to forget it, anybody could get upset and make a mistake like that.

Those strong, kind men of the Ponderosa sure have trouble with women—they always desert them at the end of each show. The widow was packing at the final commercial. It wasn't all the shooting and it wasn't she didn't love him, she explained, but how could she tell her boy that his step-father was the one who dispatched his daddy?

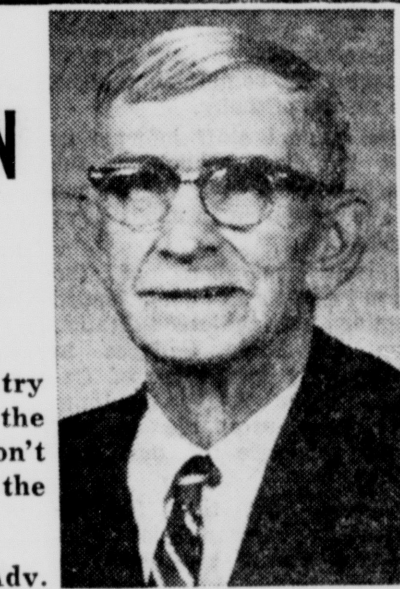

Recommended tonight: President Nixon's address on Vietnam, all networks, 9:30 EST to conclusion.

Introduction of guests was by Don Strous, president of the organization. A brief talk was made by Mr. Griswold, president of the State Association.

Principal Faces Trial In Shooting Incident

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—A junior high school principal in nearby Carroll, Charles Osborne, 55, goes on trial Friday in municipal court here on a charge of shooting with intent to wound a Lithopolis youth.

Michael Rutherford, 20, is recovering in Grant Hospital, Columbus, from a bullet wound in the lower back. Rutherford allegedly was shot after setting off a firecracker in front of Osborne's home in Lithopolis.

Unable to grow crops or graze animals on the parched, rocky soil, the El Molo tribesmen of Kenya have lived for centuries exclusively on fish caught in the alkaline waters. Their monotonous diet is sometimes varied with crocodile eggs or turtles.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please offer a workable solution to an "in-law" problem which I have observed to be a stumbling bloc to many.

When young men and women date, they quite normally address their dates' parents as "Mr. and Mrs." so and so.

After the couple marries, they can no longer address their in-laws in this manner.

Since this has not been discussed before marriage, many young marrieds do not call their in-laws anything, leaving their elders feeling like complete nometities. I have seen the hurt and disgust that this namelessness has caused.

Understandably, many young people feel a disloyalty to their own parents calling their new in-laws "Mother and Dad."

But the real dilemma comes when the first grandchild arrives. The nameless parents suddenly become "Grandma and Grandpa," an endearing term when it comes from the lips of the grandchild, but NOT at all endearing when it comes from the in-law children. (More than one in-law has commented, "He is not MY grandchild, so why does he call me that?")

Yet, the elders cannot seem to bring themselves to voice their objection to the practice, and the situation is left as an unresolved and growing source of irritation. What is your solution?

OBSERVER DEAR OBSERVER: Elementary! When a couple decides to marry, if the parents do not say, "Call us 'Joe and Mary,' or 'Mom and Pop,' or 'Mother Minnie and Poppa Max,'" the young people should ask, "What would you like us to call you?"

Typical Man And Woman Discovered

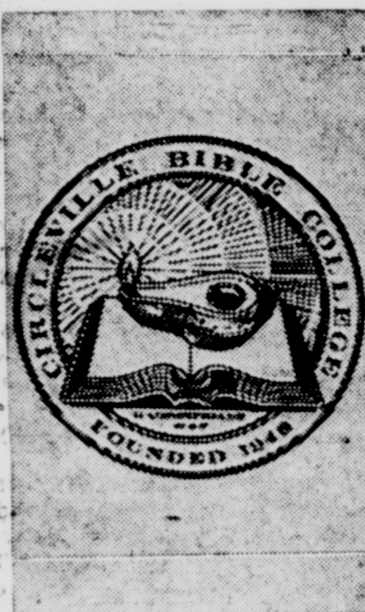

The journalism class has recently completed a survey to find the average CBC student. The facts were reached by interviewing at random approximately one fourth of the student body.

The typical woman on campus is 19 years and 10 months old. She stands 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighs 133 and has brown hair and eyes. She carries $3.03 in cash and has four brothers or sisters.

The average male student at CBC is 20 years and four months old. He stands 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighs 164 pounds. The brown-eyed, brown-haired man will have $4.75 on his person and be one of four children in a family.

In addition to these basic facts the class found that six out of seven men students came from homes where one or more parents were regular church attenders and three out of four women. The class was able to get all this information from these students but they do not know their names... for they are everybody and yet nobody.

Official Seal Is Symbolic Of School

The official seal of Circleville Bible College, adopted in 1967, expresses in symbolic form what the college regards as its mission.

The academic dean of CBC, Rev. George Blackstone, who designed it received the inspiration at the State Department building on Front Street in Columbus.

With the assistance of Francis Fox, a senior, Dean Blackstone made preliminary sketches of the idea and had the final drawing done by a commercial artist.

Since the college is located in Circleville, the logical shape for the seal is round. The foremost part of the seal is the open Word of God, which is basic to the college itself.

With inspiration taken from the verses inscribed on the Palestinian lamp and the rays of light surrounding it, the seal depicts the mission of the college to have the light of Christ shining out in ever widening circles until it reaches the very rim of the world itself.

Collegians Hold Gospel Sing

Presenting the gospel in words and song were: Jean Dummit, Jean Harr and Sandy Willis, Joe Jordan, Kay and Ray Bellomy, Charlie Mansfield, John Nunley, Linda Zarati, Brenda LaMaster, Dorothy Walls, the Mission choir, White Brothers from Steubenville and Coy White.

Attendance was very good, with 133 present in the church yard and many more listening

College Welcomes Indian Student

Many men in service for our country leave their homes, wives and children to fight the battles of our nation. A similar service has been experienced by P. K. Sam of India in the service of God.

To better serve God he felt he must have more education so in 1966, he left his wife and two sons and sailed for Ontario, Canada. While in Ontario, there was another language to master.

In addition to the two languages he had learned in India — "Malayalam" in Kerala and "Hindi" in Bombay — he now had to learn English.

Sam was born and reared in Kerala, the southernmost state in India.

In early life, Sam felt that he must have more Christian education to better help his people in India to understand mother and father since he was the only male child. In India, sons have the responsibility of support for their parents. To fulfill his obligations to his family he worked in a factory in Bombay for ten years.

Doors opened and opportunities were presented for Sam to make his dream come true. While in Canada some family friends suggested that Sam come to Circleville Bible College. He is now in his second semester at CBC.

Although the pangs of loneliness, a new culture and new language all haunt Sam, the spiritual atmosphere and knowledge that he is doing God's will causes him to say, "I like it!"

College Briefs

The touch football game played earlier this month ended in a 6-6 tie between the Buzards (seniors and juniors) and the Savages (freshmen and sophomores).

Jonah Mitchell, who broke his leg in this game, is finally back to school. We missed this loquacious senior while he was in the hospital and are glad he is back again.

Senior pictures will be taken the first week of November. Underclassmen are already bragging or complaining about the results of theirs.

The annual staff informs us that the first section of the yearbook is in and the second will be going out in about three weeks.

Various members of the administration attended meetings of the Accreditation Assn. for Bible Colleges in Chicago the last week of October. These AABC meetings will prove profitable in the future guidance of our own college.

Officers of the Student Missionary Organization attended a special conference in Marion, Ind., last weekend. They all felt it was very profitable and should help them reach their goal of $7,770 this school year.

Drama Team Announced

Many anxious moments preceded the announcement of new members of the CBC drama team.

Freshman members are: Deborah Aumiller, Linda Buchanan, Elaine Goble, Gary Hayes, Clifford Holt, Richard Lackey, Terry Moore, Ida Unroe and Rich Winans. Sophomore Christine Lindsey and seniors Carol Vance and Bealite Rice complete the schedule with William Purtee, a junior, serving as team captain.

The drama team presents dramatized sermons and travels to various churches with their presentations. There is no memorization of lines as students compose their own parts within an outlined plot. This "experiment in creative dramatics" will begin its 1969-70 schedule on Nov. 2 at the Jefferson Church of Christ in Christian Union.

Missionary Group Sets Annual Goal

The Student Missionary Organization established its financial goal on September 22. It plans to raise $7,770 during the 1969-70 school year for missions. Funds will come primarily from the student body and faculty through pledges and offerings.

It has been calculated that $7,770 would support the denominational foreign missions for two weeks. The total figure has been divided into days, hours and minutes for pledge purposes.

This pledge truly demonstrates active faith. For the most part CBC students are working their way through college. They have a vision, have counted the cost and are willingly engaged in giving their lives as well as their resources toward spreading the Gospel.

from front porches. This mission, a project of the Community Action group, is staffed each year by CBC students.

Molin Chosen For Teacher Spotlight

"I felt like I was answering a need." These are the words of Mrs. Esther Molin, a teacher at Circleville Bible College.

Mrs. Molin was born at Corinth, Mich. in 1908. She received eight years of pioneer education, two years public education and spent two years at Owosso Bible School. She later attended Taylor University one year, Owosso Junior College two years and graduated from Central Michigan University. Since then she has attended different summer seminaries.

Her teaching responsibility began at Owosso High School where she taught eight years. Following this she taught one year at Owosso Junior College, then went to New York Theological Seminary and received a masters degree. She then returned to Owosso Junior College to teach for ten more years. Mrs. Molin has also completed ten years in the public school system in Mt. Morris, Mich. She is in her second year of teaching now at Circleville Bible College, beginning her thirty-first year of teaching.

Mrs. Molin was also selected to be in the Owosso College Honor Society.

When asked what influenced her to the field of Christian teaching she answered, "I felt a call to do some Christian Service. I felt like I was answering a need."

Her hard work has brought her much success as a teacher and her years of experience have made her even more effective in her chosen field.

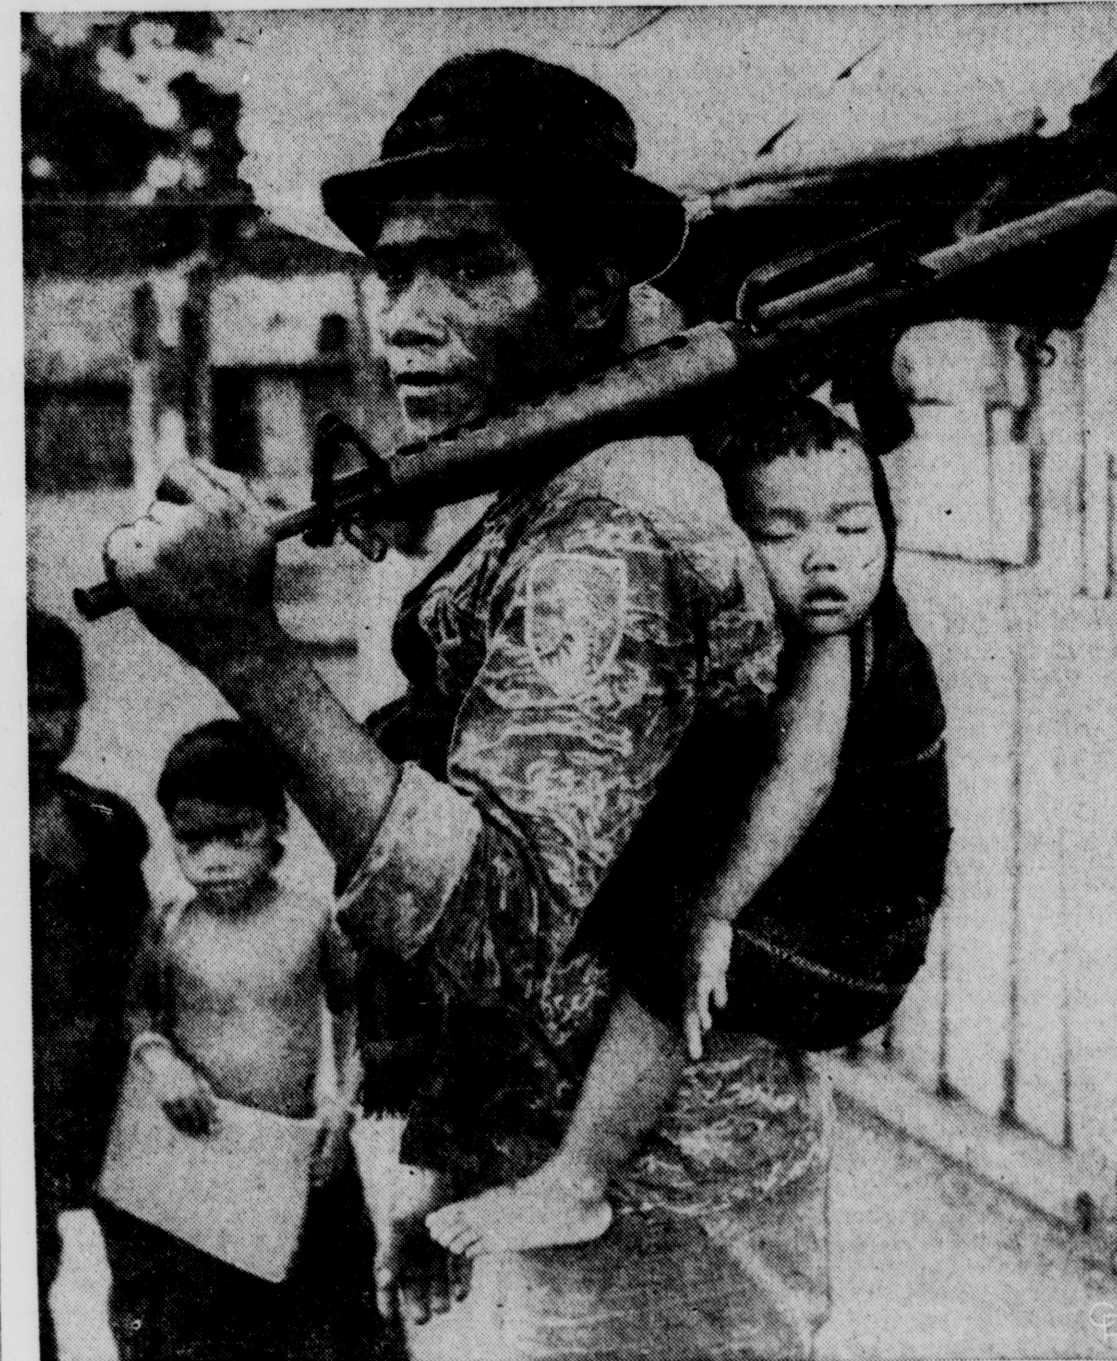

Although Mrs. Molin has been widowed for the past few years she has five stepchildren and their families, a sister in Owosso, Mich., and a host of other "children" scattered around the world in her "family."

Freshmen Select New Slate Of Officers

The C.B.C. Freshman Class recently selected Mrs. Esther Molin as class advisor. New officers of the class are: president, Stan Toler; vice president, Coy White; secretary, Sharon Evans; treasurer, Pam Hisey; chaplain, Earl Blair; student council (two year term) Carol Snyder; Student Council (one year term), Phil Batten and Campus Dollar Per Person Per Month treasurer, Bill Sparks.

Alarms Troublesome

LONDON (AP) — False alarms caused partly by equipment failure are threatening to collapse Britain's burglar alarm system, G. K. Wright, a security consultant, says. He says police, faced with as many as 4,000 false calls a week, are finding it more and more difficult to respond promptly.

BABYSITTER—If you think you've got babysitter problems, consider this Montagnard tribesman on his way to guard duty at Tieu-Atar, South Vietnam. Tieu-Atar is the site of a refugee camp and U.S. Special Forces (Green Beret) post.

Form National Police Union; Adopt Clause Of No Strikes

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Representatives meeting here to organize a new national union of police have adopted a no-strike clause as part of a proposed constitution.

A goal of the group would be national legislation requiring mandatory arbitration between governmental agencies and police on issues of pay and working conditions.

"This is 1969, not 1919," said John T. Cassese of New York City, temporary chairman. "Only through organization at the national level can the policeman improve his lot."

Approved Sunday by representatives of police departments in 14 U.S. cities, the provision to prohibit strikes was called for by the AFL-CIO with which the proposed union would be affiliated.

The new organization would be known as the International Brotherhood of Police Officers.

If the proposed constitution is approved by the executive committee of the AFL-CIO, a convention will be scheduled to formally organize the union.

The adopted draft constitution opens membership to any full-time officer empowered to make arrests by warrant.

The proposed constitution includes another clause asked by the AFL-CIO. It would bar the new union from recruiting members from local police groups now represented by other AFL-CIO unions, such as the State, County and Municipal Employees Union.

He said affiliation with the AFL-CIO could be a big help during negotiations with local governmental subdivisions.

The proposed new union will seek aid from other labor organizations, but "policemen in uniform will continue to enforce the law," Cassese said.

Typical Man And Woman Discovered

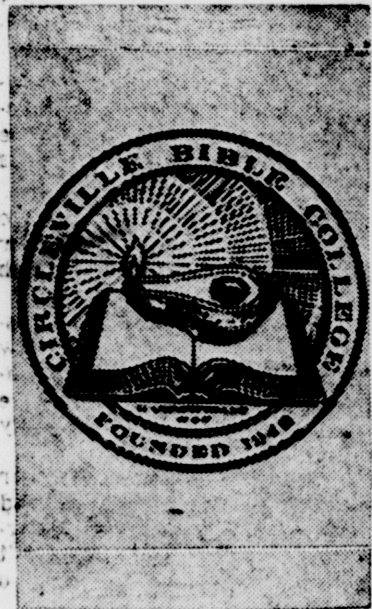

The journalism class has recently completed a survey to find the average CBC student. The facts were reached by interviewing at random approximately one fourth of the student body.

The typical woman on campus is 19 years and 10 months old. She stands 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighs 133 and has brown hair and eyes. She carries $3.03 in cash and has four brothers or sisters.

The average male student at CBC is 20 years and four months old. He stands 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighs 164 pounds. The brown-eyed, brown-haired man will have $4.75 on his person and be one of four children in a family.

In addition to these basic facts the class found that six out of seven men students came from homes where one or more parents were regular church attenders and three out of four women. The class was able to get all this information from these students but they do not know their names... for they are everybody and yet nobody.

Official Seal Is Symbolic Of School

The official seal of Circleville Bible College, adopted in 1967, expresses in symbolic form what the college regards as its mission.

The academic dean of CBC, Rev. George Blackstone, who designed it received the inspiration at the State Department building on Front Street in Columbus.

With the assistance of Francis Fox, a senior, Dean Blackstone made preliminary sketches of the idea and had the final drawing done by a commercial artist.

Since the college is located in Circleville, the logical shape for the seal is round. The foremost part of the seal is the open Word of God, which is basic to the college itself.

With inspiration taken from the verses inscribed the Palestinian lamp and the rays of light surrounding it, the seal depicts the mission of the college to have the light of Christ shining out in ever widening circles until it reaches the very rim of the world itself.

Collegians Hold Gospel Sing

The Community Mission presented a "Gospel Sing" 7 p.m. October 3, at Lowery Lane.

Presenting the gospel in words and song were: Jean Dummit, Jean Harr and Sandy Willis, Joe Jordan, Kay and Ray Bellomy, Charlie Mansfield, John Nunley, Linda Zarati, Brenda LaMaster, Dorothy Walls, the Mission choir, White Brothers from Steubenville and Coy White.

Attendance was very good, with 133 present in the church yard and many more listening

College Welcomes Indian Student

Many men in service for our country leave their homes, wives and children to fight the battles of our nation. A similar service has been experienced by P. K. Sam of India in the service of God.

To better serve God he felt he must have more education so in 1966, he left his wife and two sons and sailed for Ontario, Canada. While in Ontario, there was another language to master.

In addition to the two languages he had learned in India — "Malayalam" in Kerala and "Hindi" in Bombay — he now had to learn English.

Sam was born and reared in Kerala, the southernmost state in India.

In early life, Sam felt that he must have more Christian education to better help his people in India to understand mother and father since he was the only male child. In India, sons have the responsibility of support for their parents. To fulfill his obligations to his family he worked in a factory in Bombay for ten years.

Doors opened and opportunities were presented for Sam to make his dream come true. While in Canada some family friends suggested that Sam come to Circleville Bible College. He is now in his second semester at CBC.

Although the pangs of loneliness, a new culture and new language all haunt Sam, the spiritual atmosphere and knowledge that he is doing God's will causes him to say, "I like!"

College Briefs

The touch football game played earlier this month ended in a 6-6 tie between the Buzzards (seniors and juniors) and the Savages (freshmen and sophomores).

Jonah Mitchell, who broke his leg in this game, is finally back to school. We missed this loquacious senior while he was in the hospital and are glad he is back again.

Senior pictures will be taken the first week of November. Underclassmen are already bragging or complaining about the results of theirs.

The annual staff informs us that the first section of the yearbook is in and the second will be going out in about three weeks.

Various members of the administration attended meetings of the Accreditation Assn. for Bible Colleges in Chicago the last week of October. These AABC meetings will prove profitable in the future guidance of our own college.

Officers of the Student Missionary Organization attended a special conference in Marion, Ind., last weekend.

They all felt it was very profitable and should help them reach their goal of $7,770 this school year.

Drama Team Announced

Many anxious moments preceded the announcement of new members of the CBC drama team.

Freshman members are: Deborah Aumiller, Linda Buchanan, Elaine Goble, Gary Hayes, Clifford Holt, Richard Lackey, Terry Moore, Ida Unroe and Rich Winans. Sophomore Christine Lindsey and seniors Carol Vance and Beattie Rice complete the schedule with William Purtee, a junior, serving as team captain.

The drama team presents dramatized sermons and travels to various churches with their presentations. There is no memorization of lines as students compose their own parts within an outlined plot. This "experiment in creative dramatics" will begin its 1969-70 schedule on Nov. 2 at the Jefferson Church of Christ in Christian Union.

It has been calculated that $7,770 would support the denominational foreign missions for two weeks. The total figure has been divided into days, hours and minutes for pledge purposes.

This pledge truly demonstrates active faith. For the most part CBC students are working their way through college. They have a vision, have counted the cost and are willingly engaged in giving their lives as well as their resources toward spreading the Gospel.

from front porches. This mission, a project of the Community Action group, is staffed each year by CBC students.

Molin Chosen For Teacher Spotlight

"I felt like I was answering a need." These are the words of Mrs. Esther Molin, a teacher at Circleville Bible College.

Mrs. Molin was born at Corinth, Mich. in 1908. She received eight years of pioneer education, two years public education and spent two years at Owosso Bible School. She later attended Taylor University one year, Owosso Junior College two years and graduated from Central Michigan University. Since then she has attended different summer seminars.

Her teaching responsibility began at Owosso High School where she taught eight years. Following this she taught one year at Owosso Junior College, then went to New York Theological Seminary and received a masters degree. She then returned to Owosso Junior College to teach for ten more years. Mrs. Molin has also completed ten years in the public school system in Mt. Morris, Mich. She is in her second year of teaching now at Circleville Bible College, beginning her thirty-first year of teaching.

Mrs. Molin was also selected to be in the Owosso College Honor Society.

When asked what influenced her to the field of Christian teaching she answered, "I felt a call to do some Christian Service. I felt like I was answering a need."

Her hard work has brought her much success as a teacher and her years of experience have made her even more effective in her chosen field.

Although Mrs. Molin has been widowed for the past few years she has five stepchildren and their families, a sister in Owosso, Mich., and a host of other "children" scattered around the world in her "family."

Freshmen Select New Slate Of Officers

The C.B.C. Freshman Class recently selected Mrs. Esther Molin as class advisor. New officers of the class are: president, Stan Toler; vice president, Coy White; secretary, Sharon Evans; treasurer, Pam Hisey; chaplain, Earl Blair; student council (two year term) Carol Snyder; Student Council (one year term), Phil Batten and Campus Dollar Per Person Per Month treasurer, Bill Sparks.

Alarms Troublesome

LONDON (AP) — False alarms caused partly by equipment failure are threatening to collapse Britain's burglar alarm system, G. K. Wright, a security consultant, says. He says police, faced with as many as 4,000 false calls a week, are finding it more and more difficult to respond promptly.

Form National Police Union; Adopt Clause Of No Strikes

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Representatives meeting here to organize a new national union of police have adopted a no-strike clause as part of a proposed constitution.

A goal of the group would be national legislation requiring mandatory arbitration between governmental agencies and police on issues of pay and working conditions.

Cleveland Wins Cross Country

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland St. Joseph defended its state high school Class AA cross country title Saturday with a low score of 110 over a soggy Ohio State University course.

The Cleveland school sped to its fourth title in five years followed closely by Cincinnati Elder and Toledo DeVilbiss, which tied for second with 114 each. Georgetown won the Class A title, with 127 points. Kent State High was second with 168 and Ashland Crestview third with 213. Last year's small school title winner, Cortland, did not place.

Leading scorers for the Laurelville Wildcats were Mike Shaw with 13 points and Mike Eveland with 10.

Neither school participates in football and open their basketball season before the other schools.

Laurelville is a member of the Scioto Valley Conference while Bishop Flagnet belongs to the Ross County Conference.

High School Basketball Season Begins

Laurelville Has Game, Other Schools Start Practicing

Basketball season is here, believe it or not.

Laurelville High School, which does not field a football team, officially kicked off the roundball sport for area teams Saturday, losing to Bishop Flagnet at Chillicothe, 57-50.

Paul Hoskins, head basketball coach at Westfall, conducted a clinic Saturday, the first official practice day for football high schools. Over 100 junior high, freshmen, junior varsity and varsity candidates turned out for the clinic.

At Teays Valley, Coach Bob Hoover had 17 varsity candidates including eight returning lettermen for a Saturday session.

LOGAN Elm Coach Chuck Pritchard reported there were 12 juniors and seniors seeking positions on the varsity basketball team. Pritchard reports he has two starters returning and five senior lettermen.

Although football season ended Friday for the three county schools, grid team members were excused from the initial practice sessions for the most part.

The three coaches reported that all out practice sessions will begin today.

At Circleville, new head coach John Lawhorn had 25 candidates at Saturday's practice. The Tigers have one football game remaining and it will be a week before the grid players will try out for the basketball team.

Lawhorn said that he did not anticipate making any cuts from the squad until about Nov. 14.

The opening weekend of basketball action for the county teams is November 21. Teays Valley hosts Columbus North and Circleville hosts Westfall.

On November 22, Logan Elm hosts Teays Valley and Westfall is at Fairfield Union.

Royals Whip Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Obviously this was my best game ever," said Tom Van Arsdale. It was also one of Cincinnati's better ones this year.

The Royals, led by Van Arsdale's career high 41 points—18 of them in the decisive fourth quarter—cooled off the Los Angeles Lakers 124-116 Sunday night.

In the only other game on the abbreviated National Basketball Association schedule, Walt Hazzard's 23 points paced the Atlanta Hawks to their third straight victory, 125-113 over the Seattle SuperSonics. In tonight's only contest, the New York Knicks, runaway leaders in the Eastern Division, visit the second-place Bucks in Milwaukee.

"I was getting the open shots and I wasn't hesitating," said Van Arsdale, a 6-foot-5, four-year veteran from Indiana. "When I had a shot, I'd take it."

He connected on a solid 18 of 27 shots from the floor, hitting on both long, arching outside shots and short, driving layups. Oscar Robertson backed him up with 22 points while Jerry West pumped in 27 for Los Angeles and Wilt Chamberlain added 25.

Toledo Given Crack At Tangerine Bowl

By LARRY HEINERLING
Associated Press Writer

Toledo Coach Frank Lautner sniffed the sweet smell of success Saturday as his team claimed the Mid-American Conference football championship and a crack at the Tangerine Bowl.

A jubilant Toledo fan opened a case of tangerines after the Rockets edged Miami 14-10 and tossed one to Lautner. He grabbed it, squeezed it and said, "I feel 99 feet high. We won, by golly, and I'm the happiest man in the world."

But it almost was a sad ending for Toledo.

The Rockets scored two touchdowns in just over three minutes of the second quarter, but faced a serious second-half assault by the Redskins.

"We got into the hole in the second half," said Lautner. "Miami had the ball so many times when it looked like they could just reach over and lay the ball in the end zone but we held our poise."

Miami sent eight straight drives into Rocket territory in the second half, moving to the 9, 15 and 16-yard lines before the Toledo defense stiffened.

The narrow victory wrapped up the Rockets' fifth straight MAC triumph and seventh overall in an unbeaten season.

On Dec. 26 they face the Southern Conference champion at the Tangerine Bowl. The betting is their opponent will be North Carolina's Davidson College, now leading the conference with a 4-1 record.

At Athens, Ohio University came from behind in the second half to edge Western Michigan 22-17 in the only other MAC game of the weekend.

Led by Dave LeVeck, who scored twice and ran a conversion, the Bobcats mounted their offense in the third and fourth quarters after being held to a 17-0 halftime deficit.

Marshall University, the ousted MAC team, upset Bowling Green 21-16 and the victory saved the Thundering Herd from the same fate suffered by Kansas State and Virginia, who share the record for a 28-game major college victory drought.

Kent State crushed Louisville 35-6 with the help of substitute running back Phil Witherspoon, who rolled up 242 yards rushing and went for three touchdowns.

In the Missouri Valley Conference, North Texas State staged a dramatic last-minute comeback with a field goal that squeezed the Eagles past Cincinnati 31-30.

Dayton improved its lackluster record with a 32-14 victory over Xavier led by halfback Gary Kessons, who scored four touchdowns. Xavier now is 0-7 and Dayton, 2-6.

Akron, ranked eighth among the nation's small colleges, turned a near loss to Central Michigan into victory when quarterback Chuck Shuman tossed a 48-yard touchdown pass on fourth down with less than four minutes remaining. The score was 9-6. The Zips now are 7-1.

Ohio State fullback Jim Otis made rushing history during the Buckeyes' 36-6 Big Ten victory over Northwestern and Coach Woody Hayes later dubbed him "the best fullback in the country."

Otis scored three touchdowns and carried 25 times for 127 yards and an OSU record career total of 2,261, topping fullback Bob Ferguson's previous record of 2,162.

The Buckeye's, favored by five touchdowns, thundered to their sixth triumph of the season and the 20th in a row since 1967.

Quarterback Rex Kern, injured late in the game, rushed for 94 yards on 12 carries and hit 10 of 17 passes for 117 yards.

"He'll be ready for next week," said Hayes optimistically. "It will be sore. Those injuries are sometimes more bothersome than the original injuries, but they heal quicker."

Kern's shoulder was jammed into the ground during the fourth quarter when he was hit by a Northwestern defensive back.

Baldwin Wallace knocked Ohio Wesleyan out of its first-place berth in the Ohio Conference with a 36-14 victory that opened the top spot to undefeated Wittenberg. Wittenberg smashed Bucknell 45-6 in a non-conference game.

In other OC action, Kenyon beat Oberlin 24-14. Wooster trounced Hiram 28-6. Muskingum blitzed Denison 20-7, and Marietta edged Mount Union 20-12.

In other games around the state it was Ashland 7, Capital 7; Centre 21, Wilmington 7; Ohio Northern 17, Bluffton 9; Defiance 21, Central State 0; Leghenny 28, Case Tech 7; Youngstown 20, Southeast Louisiana 7; Hillsdale, Mich., 49, Findlay 2; John Carroll 31, Bethany, W. Va., 16; Thiel 43, Adelberg 22.

Colonels Top Carolina In ABA Tilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kentucky's Colonels were within one-half game of a share of the American Basketball Association Eastern Division lead today after nipping Carolina Sunday night 104-102. Idle Indiana leads the division.

Kentucky won in the final seconds on Louie Dampier's five-footer after Carolina tied the score at 102-all with 14 seconds remaining.

Carolina's Doug Moe led the scoring with 41 points. High for the Colonels was Dampier with 29.

Miami broke a five-game losing streak by beating the New York Nets 103-98 in the only other ABA action but may have lost its No. 1 draft choice, Larry Cannon, in the process. Cannon, $250,000 bonus star from La Salle, left the floor and the gymnasium at Miami apparently miffed because he didn't play more. He played only two minutes.

A Miami official said he would talk to Cannon today "after he cools off."

Miami's Don Freeman scored 30 points. Les Hunter of the Nets paced all scorers with 32.

In the ABA Saturday, Indiana topped Carolina 114-109. New York shaded Kentucky 112-109. Denver overwhelmed Los Angeles 121-88. Washington beat Dallas 101-97 and New Orleans downed Miami 114-108.

Kathy Whitworth Golf Winner

CONROE, Tex. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth overtook leader Betty Rawls on the 54th and final hole Sunday to win the River Plantation Women's Open.

Miss Rawls had a one-stroke lead going into the 18th. The two women, playing in the same set, both got on the green in three strokes.

Miss Rawls, about 20 feet from the pin, missed her putt by about 2½ feet, with Miss Whitworth sinking her eight-foot putt for the birdie on the par 5 hole. Miss Rawls then missed her next shot and bogeyed the hole, giving Miss Whitworth the championship.

GO-GO GATORS—The University of Florida Gators are one of the surprises of the Southland as they continue to rank among the nation's best, led by a sensational soph passer, John Reaves, who threw 20 touchdown passes in his first six games and piled up 1,732 yards in offense. Other standouts are linebacker Tom Abdelnour, flanker Carlos Alvarez and backs Garry Walker and Tommy Durrance. This is the seventh straight year coach Ray Graves has turned out a winning team.

Greg Cook Leads Bengals Over Raiders, 31-17

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Imagine substituting a rookie for the leading American Football League passer and knocking off the last of the AFL unbeaten teams.

Paul Brown pulled that strategy Sunday, guiding his Cincinnati Bengals to a 31-17 upset of the Oakland Raiders. That knocked the Raiders from the Western Division lead, 6-1-1 to Kansas City's 7-1-0.

It also halted a four-game Bengal nosedive and a 15-game unbeaten streak for the Raiders. The rookie was sensational Greg Cook, himself the AFL's leading passer until he was hurt Cincinnati celebrated his return as Cook pitched a pair of touchdown strikes to little-used Chip Myers.

Cook really zipped a couple in there, Oakland coach John Madden admitted. "He's tough to stop. They have something going with him in there."

Cook also had something else going—exceptional blocking for the offensive line. While Sam Wyche, who led AFL passing going into the game, was dumped often in the last two starts, Cook wasn't smothered once by the Raiders.

Myers, who played for Huntsville, Ala., in the Continental League last year after being dropped by San Francisco, made sensational touchdown grabs of 35 and 8 yards. That tripled his receiving output for 1969.

"No two touchdowns have ever meant more to me," contended the 6-5, 200-pounder from Northwest Oklahoma. Myers normally backs up tight end Bob Trumpy, but Brown needed help at the wide spots Sunday.

Credit the Bengal defenders for a great day against Darlye Lamonica and the explosive Raider offense, which outgained Cincinnati 394-320 yards.

The Bengals, who sped to an incredible 24-0 halftime lead, intercepted five Lamonica passes, two each by Bobby Hunt and Fletcher Smith, and covered a Hewitt Dixon fumble at the Cincinnati 15 late in the final quarter.

The bobbie killed Oakland's comeback bid. Lamonica had rifled respective 9-and 43-yard touchdown passes to Fred Biletnikoff and Warren Wells to bring the Raiders to within 14 points.

Bengals, Chiefs Score Wins In Weekend AFL Contests

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown, wise to the ways of football, has never been accused of being a dreamer. But he might become one after what Greg Cook and Chip Myers did to the Oakland Raiders.

"I couldn't even dream of something like this," Brown said Sunday while basking in the reality of the Bengals 31-17 upset that snapped the Raiders' regular-season unbeaten streak and dropped them out of first place in the American Football League's Western Division.

While Cincinnati, with Cook throwing two touchdown passes to Myers, was upsetting Oakland, the Kansas City Chiefs were beating Buffalo 29-7 to take over first place with 7-1 record compared to Oakland's 6-1-1 mark.

In other AFL action, the New York Jets, 6-2, increased their Eastern Division lead over Houston, 4-4, by edging Miami, 1-6-1, 34-31, while the Oilers, 4-4, were being upset by Boston, 1-7, 24-0, and Denver 4-4, shocked San Diego, 4-4, 13-0.

Len Dawson, who missed five games with a knee injury, came off the bench to ignite Kansas City's sputtering offense, and the Chiefs made up a 7-3 half-time deficit. Jan Stenerud added four more field goals and Mike Garrett scored on runs of 34 and four yards. Dan Darragh passed for Buffalo's touchdown.

Don Maynard became the first man in pro football history to gain more than 10,000 yards catching passes and set an AFL record for touchdown receptions. Maynard's 42-yard catch in the first period gave him a record 82 touchdowns and his 25-yard reception in the fourth quarter, which tied the game at 31-31, gave him a total of 10,061 yards.

Pickaway Y Cage Meeting Set Tonight

The Pickaway County YMCA basketball organizational meeting is scheduled 7:30 p.m. tonight at the Armory Building on E. Franklin St.

All interested persons who wish to enter a team in this league should plan to attend, William D. Thompson, YMCA athletic league coordinator said.

The agenda for the meeting will include distribution of rosters and policies, discussion of awards and discussion of an entry fee.

The number of representatives present will establish the number of teams so that games schedules can be produced and distributed in the immediate future.

LEADING BROWNS TO TITLE BID—Three offensive threats of the Cleveland Browns, leader in the Century division of the Eastern Conference of the NFL, are end Gary Collins, who has scored six touchdowns; rookie back Ron Johnson, who has gained 300 yards in 69 carries, and Leroy Kelly, the star halfback who is just getting back in stride after injuries hampered him in the early games.

Toledo Given Crack At Tangerine Bowl

By LARRY HEINERLING
Associated Press Writer
Toledo Coach Frank Lautner sniffed the sweet smell of success Saturday as his team claimed the Mid-American Conference football championship and a crack at the Tangerine Bowl.

A jubilant Toledo fan opened a case of tangerines after the Rockets edged Miami 14-10 and tossed one to Lautner. He grabbed it, squeezed it and said, "I feel 99 feet high. We won, by golly, and I'm the happiest man in the world."

But it almost was a sad ending for Toledo.

The Rockets scored two touchdowns in just over three minutes of the second quarter, but faced a serious second-half assault by the Redskins.

"We got into the hole in the second half," said Lautner.

"Miami had the ball so many times when it looked like they could just reach over and lay the ball in the end zone but we held our poise."

Miami sent eight straight drives into Rocket territory in the second half, moving to the 9, 15 and 16-yard lines before the Toledo defense stiffened.

The narrow victory wrapped up the Rockets' fifth straight MAC triumph and seventh overall in an unbeaten season.

On Dec. 26 they face the Southern Conference champion at the Tangerine Bowl. The betting is their opponent will be North Carolina's Davidson College, now leading the conference with a 4-1 record.

At Athens, Ohio University came from behind in the second half to edge Western Michigan 22-17 in the only other MAC game of the weekend.

Led by Dave LeVeck, who scored twice and ran a conversion, the Bobcats mounted their offense in the third and fourth quarters after being held to a 17-0 halftime deficit.

Marshall University, the ousted MAC team, upset Bowling Green 21-16 and the victory saved the Thundering Herd from the same fate suffered by Kansas State and Virginia, who share the record for a 28-game major college victory drought.

Kent State crushed Louisville 35-6 with the help of substitute running back Phil Witherspoon, who rolled up 242 yards rushing and went for three touchdowns.

In the Missouri Valley Conference, North Texas State staged a dramatic last-minute comeback with a field goal that squeezed the Eagles past Cincinnati 31-30.

Dayton improved its lackluster record with a 32-14 victory over Xavier led by halfback Gary Kesons, who scored four touchdowns. Xavier now is 0-7 and Dayton, 2-6.

Akron, ranked eighth among the nation's small colleges, turned a near loss to Central Michigan into victory when quarterback Chuck Shuman tossed a 48-yard touchdown pass on fourth down with less than four minutes remaining. The score was 9-6. The Zips now are 7-1.

Ohio State fullback Jim Otis, made rushing history during the Buckeyes' 36-6 Big Ten victory over Northwestern and Coach Woody Hayes later dubbed him "the best fullback in the country."

Otis scored three touchdowns and carried 25 times for 127 yards and an OSU record career total of 2,261, topping fullback Bob Ferguson's previous record of 2,162.

The Buckeyes, favored by five touchdowns, thundered to their sixth triumph of the season and the 20th in a row since 1967.

Quarterback Rex Kern, injured late in the game, rushed for 94 yards on 12 carries and hit 10 of 17 passes for 117 yards.

"He'll be ready for next week," said Hayes optimistically. "It will be sore. Those injuries are sometimes more bothersome than the original injuries, but they heal quicker."

Kern's shoulder was jammed into the ground during the fourth quarter when he was hit by a Northwestern defensive back.

Baldwin Wallace knocked Ohio Wesleyan out of its first-place berth in the Ohio Conference with a 36-14 victory that opened the spot to undefeated Wittenberg. Wittenberg smashed Bucknell 45-6 in a non-conference game.

In other OC action, Kenyon beat Oberlin 24-14. Wooster trounced Hiram 28-6. Muskingum blitzed Denison 20-7, and Marietta edged Mount Union 20-12.

In other games around the state it was Ashland 7, Capital 7; Centre 21, Wilmington 7; Ohio Northern 17, Bluffton 9; Defiance 21, Central State 0; Allegheny 28, Case Tech 7; Youngstown 20, Southeast Louisiana 7; Hillsdale, Mich., 49, Findlay 2; John Carroll 31, Bethany, W. Laurelville High Loses First Game

Laurelville High School lost their opening basketball game of the 1969-1970 season to Bishop Flaget in Chillicothe 57-50.

Bishop Flaget led at the end of each period and was paced by Kirkham with 23 points.

Cleveland Wins Cross Country

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland St. Joseph defended its state high school Class AA cross country title Saturday with a low score of 110 over a soggy Ohio State University course.

The Cleveland school sped to its fourth title in five years followed closely by Cincinnati Elder and Toledo DeVilbiss, which tied for second with 114 each.

Georgetown won the Class A title, with 127 points. Kent State High was second with 168 and Ashland Crestview third with 213. Last year's small school title winner, Cortland, did not place.

Leading scorers for the Laurelville Wildcats were Mike Shaw with 13 points and Mike Eveland with 10.

Neither school participates in football and open their basketball season before the other schools.

Laurelville is a member of the Scioto Valley Conference while Bishop Flaget belongs to the Ross County Conference.

High School Basketball Season Begins

Laurelville Has Game, Other Schools Start Practicing

Basketball season is here, believe it or not.

Laurelville High School, which does not field a football team, officially kicked off the roundball sport for area teams Saturday, losing to Bishop Flaget at Chillicothe, 57-50.

Paul Hoskins, head basketball coach at Westfall, conducted a clinic Saturday, the first official practice day for football high schools. Over 100 junior high, freshmen, junior varsity and varsity candidates turned out for the clinic.

At Teays Valley, Coach Bob Hoover had 17 varsity candidates including eight returning lettermen for a Saturday session.

LOGAN Elm Coach Chuck Pritchard reported there were 12 juniors and seniors seeking positions on the varsity basketball team. Pritchard reports he has two starters returning and five senior lettermen.

Although football season ended Friday for the three county schools, grid team members were excused from the initial practice sessions for the most part.

The three coaches reported that all out practice sessions will begin today.

At Circleville, new head coach John Lawhorn had 25 candidates at Saturday's practice. The Tigers have one football game remaining and it will be a week before the grid players will try out for the basketball team.

Lawhorn said that he did not anticipate making any cuts from the squad until about Nov. 14.

The opening weekend of basketball action for the county teams is November 21. Teays Valley hosts Columbus North and Circleville hosts Westfall.

On November 22, Logan Elm hosts Teays Valley and Westfall is at Fairfield Union.

Royals Whip Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Obviously this was my best game ever," said Tom Van Arsdale. It was also one of Cincinnati's better ones this year.

The Royals, led by Van Arsdale's career high 41 points—18 of them in the decisive fourth quarter—cooled off the Los Angeles Lakers 124-116 Sunday night.

In the only other game on the abbreviated National Basketball Association schedule, Walt Hazard's 23 points paced the Atlanta Hawks to their third straight victory, 125-113 over the Seattle SuperSonics. In tonight's only contest, the New York Knicks, runaway leaders in the Eastern Division, visit the second-place Bucks in Milwaukee.

"I was getting the open shots and I wasn't hesitating," said Van Arsdale, a 6-foot-5, four-year veteran from Indiana. "When I had a shot, I'd take it."

He connected on a solid 18 of 27 shots from the floor, hitting on both long, arching outside shots and short, driving layups. Oscar Robertson backed him up with 22 points while Jerry West pumped in 27 for Los Angeles and Wilt Chamberlain added 25.

Kaiser Open Golf Clash In Playoff

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — "I'm just hacked off at myself for letting it get into a playoff," Big Jack Nicklaus said today before continuing a darkness-delayed sudden-death playoff for the top prize in the $140,000 Kaiser International Open Golf Tournament.

Nicklaus, who blew a two-stroke lead in the final round, masters champion George Archer and placid Billy Casper were locked in a playoff for the title after one extra hole of the precedent-setting playoff.

The situation, a second day of a sudden-death playoff, has not existed before.

It was forced when darkness descended on the Silverado Country Club after those three plus Texas veteran Don January had completed only one playoff hole, the par five 16th. January, who had tied the other with a 72 hole total of 273, was short of the green in three, chipped on and made the putt. The other three ran in long birdie putts. The distances of the putts were in question because, actually, it was too dark to tell.

NFL Action Hot, Heavy

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
"I'd like to play a big game every week," said Bill Neslen. "There's more incentive."

As far as the Dallas Cowboys are concerned, the Cleveland Browns' quarterback and his aroused teammates had more than enough of that Sunday.

Neslen's strong right arm delivered five touchdown passes and Cleveland's defense forced the Cowboys into a bevy of errors as the Browns pulled off a 42-10 stunner over the previously unbeaten terrors of the National Football League.

That left the Los Angeles Rams, 38-6 conquerors of Atlanta for their seventh straight, as the only unbeaten team in pro football.

In other games, the New Orleans Saints went of their biggest scoring binge ever in beating St. Louis 51-42. Minnesota shocked winless Chicago 31-14 to remain atop the Central Division. Baltimore stopped Washington 41-17. Green Bay stormed from behind to beat Pittsburgh 38-34. Detroit whipped San Francisco 26-14 and Philadelphia checked New York 23-20.

John Miller, who tied for eighth as an amateur in the 1968 U.S. Open, turned pro in March and in May was graduated from the PGA's tournament players' division qualifying school.

GO-GO GATORS—The University of Florida Gators are one of the surprises of the Southland as they continue to rank among the nation's best, led by a sensational soph passer, John Reaves, who threw 20 touchdown passes in his first six games and piled up 1,732 yards in offense. Other standouts are linebacker Tom Abdelnour, flanker Carlos Alvarez and backs Garry Walker and Tommy Durrance. This is the seventh straight year coach Ray Graves has turned out a winning team.

Greg Cook Leads Bengals Over Raiders, 31-17

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Imagine substituting a rookie for the leading American Football League passer and knocking off the last of the AFL unbeaten teams.

Paul Brown pulled that strategy Sunday, guiding his Cincinnati Bengals to a 31-17 upset of the Oakland Raiders. That knocked the Raiders from the Western Division lead, 6-1-1 to Kansas City's 7-1-0.

It also halted a four-game Bengal nosedive and a 15-game unbeaten streak for the Raiders. The rookie was sensational Greg Cook, himself the AFL's leading passer until he was hurt Cincinnati celebrated his return as Cook pitched a pair of touchdown strikes to little-used Chip Myers.

Cook really zipped a couple in there. Oakland coach John Madden admitted, "He's tough to stop. They have something going with him in there."

Bengals, Chiefs Score Wins In Weekend AFL Contests

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown, wise to the ways of football, has never been accused of being a dreamer. But he might become one after what Greg Cook and Chip Myers did to the Oakland Raiders.

"I couldn't even dream of something like this," Brown said Sunday while basking in the reality of the Bengals 31-17 upset that snapped the Raiders' regular-season unbeaten streak and dropped them out of first place in the American Football League's Western Division.

While Cincinnati, with Cook throwing two touchdown passes to Myers, was upsetting Oakland, the Kansas City Chiefs were beating Buffalo 29-7 to take over first place with 7-1 record compared to Oakland's 6-1-1 mark.

In other AFL action, the New York Jets, 6-2, increased their Eastern Division lead over Houston, 4-4, by edging Miami, 16-1, 34-31, while the Oilers, 4-4, were being upset by Boston, 1-7, 24-0, and Denver 4-4, shocked San Diego, 4-4, 13-0.

Len Dawson, who missed five games with a knee injury, came off the bench to ignite Kansas City's sputtering offense, and the Chiefs made up a 7-3 halftime deficit. Jan Stenerud added four more field goals and Mike Garrett scored on runs of 34 and four yards. Dan Darragh passed for Buffalo's touchdown.

Don Maynard became the first man in pro football history to gain more than 10,000 yards catching passes and set an AFL record for touchdown receptions. Maynard's 42-yard catch in the first period gave him a record 82 touchdowns and his 25-yard reception in the fourth quarter, which tied the game at 31-31, gave him a total of 10,061 yards.

Colonels Top Carolina In ABA Tilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Kentucky's Colonels were within one-half game of a share of the American Basketball Association Eastern Division lead today after nipping Carolina Sunday night 104-102. Idle Indiana leads the division.

Kentucky won in the final seconds on Louie Dampier's five-footer after Carolina tied the score at 102-all with 14 seconds remaining.

Carolina's Doug Moe led the scoring with 41 points. High for the Colonels was Dampier with 29.

Miami broke a five-game losing streak by beating the New York Nets 103-98 in the only other ABA action but may have lost its No. 1 draft choice, Larry Cannon, in the process.

Cannon, $250,000 bonus star from La Salle, left the floor and the gymnasium at Miami apparently miffed because he didn't play more. He played only two minutes.

A Miami official said he would talk to Cannon today "after he cools off."

Miami's Don Freeman scored 30 points. Les Hunter of the Nets paced all scorers with 32.

In the ABA Saturday, Indiana topped Carolina 114-109. New York shaded Kentucky 112-109. Denver overwhelmed Los Angeles 121-88. Washington beat Dallas 101-97 and New Orleans downed Miami 114-108.

Kathy Whitworth Golf Winner

CONROE, Tex. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth overlooked leader Betty Rawls on the 54th and final hole Sunday to win the River Plantation Women's Open.

Miss Rawls had a one-stroke lead going into the 18th. The two women, playing in the same set, both got on the green in three strokes.

Miss Rawls, about 20 feet from the pin, missed her putt by about 2 1/2 feet, with Miss Whitworth sinking her eight-foot putt for the birdie on the par 5 hole. Miss Rawls then missed her next shot and bogeyed the hole, giving Miss Whitworth the championship.

Navy Coach: 3 Teams Are No. 2

Village Police Jobs Improved

FATHER-SON — Argyle police chiefs Adolph and Peter Jaggi saw the job of village police chief come from the Dark Ages to its present status. At one time the chief held a number of village positions.

By RAY BARTIN
Central Press Association
Correspondent

ARGYLE, Wis. — Once upon a time the police chief in a small town (almost any small town) was more than a one-man police force.

In Argyle, a village of 700, Police Chief Adolph Jaggi was also the garbage pickup man, community hall janitor keeper of the village park and custodian of the sewers.

"I sometimes changed clothes four times a day," he recalled. Jaggi provided his own work clothes, his own car, his siren and even his sidearms. He was paid $325 a month and $125 car allowance.

Times have changed. The new police chief, Jaggi's son Peter, 23, gets $500 a month for a 48-hour week. He has no garbage or sewer duties. His car, clothing and equipment are furnished by the village.

The astonishing thing is that "once upon a time" was not 1880 or 1910 or even 1932 but 1965.

The past four years have worked a revolution on police departments in other small towns besides Argyle.

The job is being upgraded by tight-fisted village boards everywhere.

There are a number of reasons for it. Prosperity, pension plans and full employment in private industry made police jobs less and less attractive.

Jaggi quit in 1965 after nine years as chief because, at 50, he decided it was time to find a job that offered a retirement pension. He became a Wisconsin civil service employee.

The town had four police chiefs in three years after Jaggi left. With each new man the village board got a better understanding of why policemen quit.

"In a small town," Jaggi observed, "the police expect to see their policeman all day long and want him on the job all night. One man just can't do it."

Peter Jaggi's contract snells out an eight hour day, six days a week. He still has no full-time assistant, and the 48 hours sometimes stretch into 58, but at least he has it in writing.

Another factor in the small town police revolution was the nationwide cry for law and order.

The shock wave from the cities made an audible boom in the smallest hamlet.

Argyle has had no protest marchers, no riots, no "crime in the streets" — but reading about them has conditioned local taxpayers to accept a higher police budget without the squawks that used to be heard.

Father and son agree that Argyle police pay and working conditions are 100 per cent

"Everyone knows that Ohio State is No. 1," Forzano said Saturday after Navy absorbed a 47-0 trouncing from Notre Dame, its second worst defeat ever. "But as far as I'm concerned, Notre Dame, Texas and Penn State are all No. 2. These three teams have speed, the big people and the necessary depth."

Northwestern knows that Ohio State is No. 1 after taking a 35-6 drubbing from the top-ranked Buckeyes. But according to the latest Associated Press poll Texas alone is No. 2 and the Longhorns did nothing to lower their prestige, wallowing Southern Methodist 45-14.

In the AP poll, Notre Dame is 10th and Penn State, a 38-16 winner over Boston College, is fifth, so Forzano's personal rankings — Navy lost to Texas 56-17 and Penn State 45-22 — might get some argument.

Especially from third-ranked Tennessee, which dined No. 11 Georgia 17-3, and fourth-ranked Arkansas, which belted Texas A&M 35-13. But certainly not from sixth-ranked Southern California, which needed a last-minute touchdown to edge California 14-9, or from Florida, No. 7, and Louisiana State, No. 8.

Both saw their perfect slates go down the drain after six victories. Auburn, ranked 17th, picked off nine of super soph John Reeves' passes and ripped the Gators 38-12 while Archie Manning guided Mississippi to a 26-23 upset of LSU.

Ninth-ranked UCLA crushed a racially split Washington team — none of its black players made the trip — 57-14.

One member of the Second Ten—15th-ranked Wyoming—also fell from the unbeaten ranks. Art Malone set a Western Athletic Conference career rushing record of 2,408 yards as Arizona State whipped the Cowboys 30-14.

Elsewhere, Missouri, No. 14, outlasted 12th-ranked Kansas State 41-38; No. 13 Purdue beat Illinois 49-22; 16th-ranked Stanford eased past Oregon State 33-0; Nebraska turned back No. 18 Colorado 20-7; Air Force, No. 19, used Ernie Jennings' fourth-quarter 96-yard kickoff return to top Army 13-6, and Michigan, No. 20, routed Wisconsin 35-7.

42-10; Viewpoints Differ Browns Batter Cowboys,

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Bill Nelsen called it incentive, Blanton Collier credited opportunity, and Tom Landry said it was "as bad as it looked" Sunday as the Cleveland Browns rolled over the Dallas Cowboys, 42-10.

"I would like to play a big game every week," Nelsen said after passing for five touchdowns to give the Browns a 5-1 record as leader of the National Football League's Century Division and drop the Cowboys to 6-1. "There's more incentive."

"Sure we had a lot of breaks, but we were in the mood to take advantage of them," Browns Coach Collier said. "I'm thankful for them."

"We got beat by a good team today, but I really don't know how good this Browns team is," Dallas Coach Landry said. "We made the big plays — (Walt) Garrison's and (Craig) Baynham's fumbles and (Cornell) Green's interference." The three plays led to a 21-0 lead for the Browns.

"I guess it was the best team we've faced," said rookie Calvin Hill, the league's leading rusher who scored the Cowboys' only touchdown on a one-yard fourth quarter run. "They beat us. In fact, they stopped us cold."

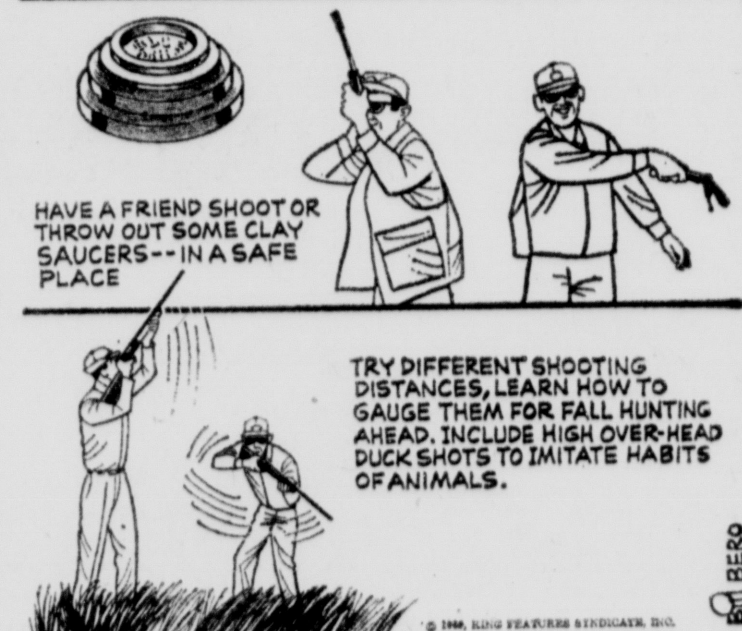

Nelsen threw touchdown passes of 48 and 21 yards to Paul Warfield, 11 and seven yards to Gary Collins, and 10 yards to Chip Glass. Ron Johnson scored the other Cleveland touchdown on a one-yard run following the interference call against Green.

Doctor O.K.'s This Hemorrhoid Treatment For N.J. Couple's Son

Treatment Shrinks Piles,
Relieves Pain In Most Cases

Wharton, N.J. Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Jeffers report: "Our son suffered from hemorrhoids. I asked the doctor about Preparation H and he gave us the O.K. Our son is now fine, thanks to Preparation H."

(Note: Doctors have proved in most cases — Preparation H actually shrinks inflamed hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from pain, burning and itching. Then swelling is gently reduced. There's no other formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids like doctor-tested Preparation H. It also lubricates to make bowel movements more comfortable, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.)

Navy Coach: 3 Teams Are No. 2

Village Police Jobs Improved

FATHER-SON — Argyle police chiefs Adolph and Peter Jaggi saw the job of village police chief come from the Dark Ages to its present status. At one time the chief held a number of village positions.

By RAY BARTIN
Central Press Association
Correspondent

ARGYLE, Wis. — Once upon a time the police chief in a small town (almost any small town) was more than a one-man police force.

In Argyle, a village of 700, Police Chief Adolph Jaggi was also the garbage pickup man, community hall janitor keeper of the village park and custodian of the sewers.

"I sometimes changed clothes four times a day," he recalled. Jaggi provided his own work clothes, his own car, his siren and even his sidearms. He was paid $325 a month and $125 car allowance.

Times have changed. The new police chief, Jaggi's son Peter, 23, gets $500 a month for a 48-hour week. He has no garbage or sewer duties. His car, clothing and equipment are furnished by the village.

The astonishing thing is that "once upon a time" was not 1880 or 1910 or even 1932 but 1965.

The past four years have worked a revolution on police departments in other small towns besides Argyle.

The job is being upgraded by tight-fisted village boards everywhere.

There are a number of reasons for it. Prosperity, pension plans and full employment in private industry made police jobs less and less attractive.

Jaggi quit in 1965 after nine years as chief because, at 50, he decided it was time to find a job that offered a retirement pension. He became a Wisconsin civil service employee.

The town had four police chiefs in three years after Jaggi left. With each new man the village board got a better understanding of why policemen quit.

"In a small town," Jaggi observed, "the police expect to see their policeman all day long and want him on the job all night. One man just can't do it."

Peter Jaggi's contract spells out an eight hour day, six days a week. He still has no full-time assistant, and the 48 hours sometimes stretch into 58, but at least he has it in writing.

Another factor in the small town police revolution was the nationwide cry for law and order.

The shock wave from the cities made an audible boom in the smallest hamlet.

6 Americans Return Home To Face Skyjack Charges

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — Contemptuous treatment by the Cuban government was cited today as a probable reason why six Americans elected to come home and risk the death penalty on charges of separate hijackings of airplanes to Cuba. "I'm sure he'll tell us there was no utopia at the other end," said George Bohle of Michigan City, Ind., father of Ronald T. Bohle, one of the men who gave themselves up at the Canadian border Sunday.

I think he was incarcerated quite frequently," said James Boynton of Kalamazoo, Mich., who told newsmen disenchanted with the one-time "Pearl of the Antilles" had been expressed in letters from his son, Thomas, one of the returnees.

The younger Boynton had stuck it out for longer than any of the others—just over 20 months.

The State Department said all six returned of their own volition and not as the result of any negotiations with the Fidel Castro regime.

All were jailed in lieu of bail ranging from $100,000 to $250,000 under the federal air piracy law, which provides a maximum penalty of death. Each faces trial in the area where he seized a plane.

One of them, Thomas George Washington of Gary, Ind., was accompanied by his 4-year-old daughter, who flew with him to Cuba last December. She had a joyful reunion with her mother. "Mommy! Mommy!" the youngster cried as she ran to meet her mother. The two later returned to the mother's home in Philadelphia.

Boynton said his son, who has a master's degree in sociology, "had to do kinds of work he wasn't used to—common laboring."

There have been about 90 airplane hijackings from the United States to Cuba since 1961. Many of the hijackers were Cubans, but one State Department estimate puts the number of Americans still in that country after forcing flights to Havana at nearly 40.

The others were identified as: —Raymond Anthony Sr., 56, of Baltimore, an unemployed auto salesman. Charged with hijacking an Eastern Airlines plane with 104 aboard enroute from Baltimore to Miami last June 28.

—Ronald Thomas Bohle, 22, of

Michigan City, Ind., a dropout from Purdue University, charged with hijacking a 72-passenger Eastern jet flying from Miami to Nassau on Jan. 9.

—Robert Lee Sandlin, also known as Bobby Sandlin and A. Vollis of Vernon, Tex., about 25. Charged with hijacking a Delta Airlines flight bound to Augusta from Atlanta on March 17.

—Thomas J. Boynton Jr., 32, an assistant professor at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, Mich. The FBI said he was a former Job Corps employee who forced the pilot of a Twin Piper Apache to fly from Marathon, Fla., to Cuba on Feb. 17, 1968.

—Joseph C. Crawford, 23, a native of St. Simons Island, Ga. Charged with taking a Continental Airlines plane traveling from El Paso to Midland, Tex., on July 25.

Pickaway Grange

PICKAWAY YOUTH GRANGE Sheryl Hines served as hostess to the Pickaway County Grange Youth at their regular meeting Sunday evening. She began the meeting with a devotional period using the theme "Faith."

The business session was conducted by Betty Bolender, vice-president of the group. Financial and secretarial reports were given by the officers.

Youth director, Melvin Archer, led a discussion on the district youth conference to be held January 3, at the grange building on the fairgrounds.

Meetings for the coming year were planned and meeting places designated. The annual Christmas party will be held at the home of Phil and Wilma Judy on December 7, beginning with a supper at 6 p.m.

Reports concerning convention were given by the princess Betty Bolender, and the deputies, Joan Dawson and Paul Dunkle. Pickaway was well represented at the 97th annual session with many honors given to the county.

The meeting closed with refreshments served by the Hines followed with recreation conducted by the hostess.

Nixon Slates Viet Talks Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon takes his Vietnam case to the nation tonight amid fresh speculation over the possibility of a sizeable step-up in U.S. troop withdrawals.

In advance of Nixon's much-heralded 9:30 p.m. EST radio address, House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said "It is perfectly possible that all American combat forces can be withdrawn from Vietnam by July 1, 1970."

In Saigon, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky was quoted as saying that "next year the (South Vietnamese) armed forces will be able to replace about 180,000 U.S. soldiers."

Ky predicted "nothing new" out of Nixon's speech while Ford, addressing a Phoenix, Ariz., group, declined to speculate further on it. Nixon so far has announced troop pullbacks totaling about 60,000 by Dec. 15, a 10,000-a-month withdrawal which would reduce the U.S. strength figure in Vietnam to 484,000.

The President himself maintained tight silence about the forthcoming speech and prolonged his weekend stay in seclusion at his fog-shrouded Camp David, Md., mountain retreat while working on it.

Originally slated to return to the White House Sunday, Nixon put off his helicopter flight back to Washington until today.

The original White House announcement of the speech just before the Oct. 15 Vietnam Moratorium protests, its timing to night on election eve and approximately one year after the Nov. 1, 1968, halt to the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, and the secrecy surrounding its preparation have led to wide speculation that a new Nixon move on Vietnam is in the offing.

"Great hopes and expectations are riding on this speech," Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said during the weekend. "I'm just living on a hope and a prayer that he will offer the American people and the Congress some light at the end of the tunnel."

But despite numerous recommendations for the policy speech which Nixon has solicited from his top advisers and government departments, many Washington officials doubted the President would depart substantially from the course he has charted.

Gradual U.S. disengagement based on Saigon's ability to take over more of the load, a lowered level of combat or progress in the Paris negotiations.

Senior administration authorities have contended the South Vietnamese are making so much progress toward taking over the war effort that the only way the enemy can win now is through a too-rapid U.S. pull-out forced by U.S. public opinion.

Thus the Nixon address, as they see it, is primarily to win the battle on the home front against protesters demanding that America should get out of Vietnam now.

Laurelville Adult Farm Classes Start

The first meeting of the Laurelville Adult Farmer Program will be held at the Laurelville High School 7:30 p.m. tonight in the vocational agriculture room.

The purpose of this meeting is to plan the entire program for the year and to discuss the outlook for agriculture for 1970.

The purpose of the Adult Farmer Program is to exchange ideas on many phases of production agriculture, to assist in developing skills and abilities relative to maintenance and repair of agricultural machinery, and to discuss new developments in agriculture as they apply to the methods of production used in the local area.

The Marquis de Lafayette, hero of both American and French revolutions, sent the key to the Bastille to his friend George Washington, who hung it up in his house at Mount Vernon. It is still there today.

Controversy

tors through the federal courts. In his appearance last Thursday, Hershey, who is being replaced as head of Selective Service, said he opposed what he called encroachment of the judicial system into the activities of draft boards.

Meanwhile, opposing plans for draft reform are at the center of a controversy between the Nixon administration and the Senate's Democratic leadership.

At stake immediately is a House-passed bill which is limited to giving President Nixon the right to create a lottery system for drafting young men into the armed forces.

The system would choose mostly 19-year-olds for service and reduce to one year the present seven-year period in which a youth is most vulnerable to induction.

But the Senate, unlike the House, has no rules to limit debate to the lottery only.

As a result, a band of senators lies in wait to ambush the Nixon bill with amendments intended to revamp the entire Selective Service process system many of them call unfair, unjust and disruptive to personal and national life.

THE MENTALLY RETARDED

Mental retardation afflicts three per cent of our population. It is four times more common than rheumatic heart, nine times more prevalent than cerebral palsy, affects fifteen times more people than blindness. It disables ten times as many children and adults as polio did before the advent of preventive vaccines.

Of America's more than 5 1/2 million mentally retarded, less than 4% live in residential institutions. The rest live in the community, making community programs like ours in Pickaway County absolutely essential.

Statistically, one out of every 40 children born in Pickaway County next year will have some form of mental retardation; one of them could be yours.

Nixon Slates Viet Talks Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon takes his Vietnam case to the nation tonight amid fresh speculation over the possibility of a sizeable step-up in U.S. troop withdrawals.

In advance of Nixon's much-heralded 9:30 p.m. EST radio address, House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said "It is perfectly possible that all American combat forces can be withdrawn from Vietnam by July 1, 1970."

In Saigon, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky was quoted as saying that "next year the (South Vietnamese) armed forces will be able to replace about 180,000 U.S. soldiers."

Ky predicted "nothing new" out of Nixon's speech while Ford, addressing a Phoenix, Ariz., group, declined to speculate further on it. Nixon so far has announced troop pullbacks totaling about 60,000 by Dec. 15, a 10,000-a-month withdrawal which would reduce the U.S. strength figure in Vietnam to 484,000.

The President himself maintained tight silence about the forthcoming speech and prodded his weekend stay in seclusion at his fog-shrouded Camp David, Md., mountain retreat while working on it.

Originally slated to return to the White House Sunday, Nixon put off his helicopter flight back to Washington until today.

The original White House announcement of the speech just before the Oct. 15 Vietnam Moratorium protests, its timing to night on election eve and approximately one year after the Nov. 1, 1968, halt to the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, and the secrecy surrounding its preparation have led to wide speculation that a new Nixon move on Vietnam is in the offing.

"Great hopes and expectations are riding on this speech," Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said during the week-end. "I'm just living on a hope and a prayer that he will offer the American people and the Congress some light at the end of the tunnel."

But despite numerous recommendations for the policy speech which Nixon has solicited from his top advisers and government departments, many Washington officials doubted the President would depart substantially from the course he has charted.

Gradual U.S. disengagement based on Saigon's ability to take over more of the load, a lowered level of combat or progress in the Paris negotiations.

Senior administration authorities have contended the South Vietnamese are making so much progress toward taking over the war effort that the only way the enemy can win now is through a too-rapid U.S. pull-out forced by U.S. public opinion.

Thus the Nixon address, as they see it, is primarily to win the battle on the home front against protesters demanding that America should get out of Vietnam now.

Controversy

tors through the federal courts. In his appearance last Thursday, Hershey, who is being replaced as head of Selective Service, said he opposed what he called encroachment of the judicial system into the activities of draft boards.

Meanwhile, opposing plans for draft reform are at the center of a controversy between the Nixon administration and the Senate's Democratic leadership.

At stake immediately is a House-passed bill which is limited to giving President Nixon the right to create a lottery system for drafting young men into the armed forces.

The system would choose mostly 19-year-olds for service and reduce to one year the present seven-year period in which a youth is most vulnerable to induction.

But the Senate, unlike the House, has no rules to limit debate to the lottery only.

As a result, a band of senators lies in wait to ambush the Nixon bill with amendments intended to revamp the entire Selective Service process system many of them call unfair, unjust and disruptive to personal and national life.

6 Americans Return Home To Face Skyjack Charges

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — Contemptuous treatment by the Cuban government was cited today as a probable reason why six Americans elected to come home and risk the death penalty on charges of separate hijackings of airplanes to Cuba.

"I'm sure he'll tell us there was no utopia at the other end," said George Bohle of Michigan City, Ind., father of Ronald T. Bohle, one of the men who gave themselves up at the Canadian border Sunday.

I think he was incarcerated quite frequently," said James Boynton of Kalamazoo, Mich., who told newsmen disenchanted with the one-time "Pearl of the Antilles" had been expressed in letters from his son, Thomas, one of the returnees.

The younger Boynton had stuck it out for longer than any of the others—just over 20 months.

The State Department said all six returned of their own volition and not as the result of any negotiations with the Fidel Castro regime.

All were jailed in lieu of bail ranging from $100,000 to $250,000 under the federal air piracy law, which provides a maximum penalty of death. Each faces trial in the area where he seized a plane.

One of them, Thomas George Washington of Gary, Ind., was accompanied by his 4-year-old daughter, who flew with him to Cuba last December. She had a joyful reunion with her mother.

"Mommy! Mommy!" the youngster cried as she ran to meet her mother. The two later returned to the mother's home in Philadelphia.

Boynton said his son, who has a master's degree in sociology, "had to do kinds of work, he wasn't used to—common laboring."

There have been about 90 airplane hijackings from the United States to Cuba since 1961. Many of the hijackers were Cubans, but one State Department estimate puts the number of Americans still in that country after forcing flights to Havana at nearly 40.

The others were identified as: —Raymond Anthony Sr., 56, of Baltimore, an unemployed auto salesman. Charged with hijacking an Eastern Airlines plane with 104 aboard enroute from Baltimore to Miami last June 28.

—Ronald Thomas Bohle, 22, of

Michigan City, Ind., a dropout from Purdue University, charged with hijacking a 72-passenger Eastern jet flying from Miami to Nassau on Jan. 9.

—Robert Lee Sandlin, also known as Bobby Sandlin and A. Vollis of Vernon, Tex., about 25. Charged with hijacking a Delta Airlines flight bound to Augusta from Atlanta on March 17.

—Thomas J. Boynton Jr., 32, an assistant professor at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, Mich. The FBI said he was a former Job Corps employee who forced the pilot of a Twin Piper Apache to fly from Marathon, Fla., to Cuba on Feb. 17, 1968.

—Joseph C. Crawford, 23, a native of St. Simons Island, Ga. Charged with taking a Continental Airlines plane traveling from El Paso to Midland, Tex., on July 26.

PICKAWAY YOUTH GRANGE
Sheryl Hines served as hostess to the Pickaway County Grange Youth at their regular meeting Sunday evening. She began the meeting with a devotional period using the theme "Faith."

The business session was conducted by Betty Bolender, vice-president of the group. Financial and secretarial reports were given by the officers.

Youth director, Melvin Archer, led a discussion on the district youth conference to be held January 3, at the grange building on the fairgrounds.

Meetings for the coming year were planned and meeting places designated. The annual Christmas party will be held at the home of Phil and Wilma Judy on December 7, beginning with a supper at 6 p.m.

Reports concerning convention were given by the princess Betty Bolender, and the deputies, Joan Dawson and Paul Dunkle. Pickaway was well represented at the 97th annual session with many honors given to the county.

The meeting closed with refreshments served by the Hines followed with recreation conducted by the hostess.
